Youth Dies When Auto Hits Bridge

Charles McElhaney Claimed In Crash Near Hookstown

A 19-year-old Hookstown area soldier was killed and three companions were injured when an auto smashed into a concrete bridge abutment on Route 30 in Greene Township early Sunday, Pennsylvania State Police reported.

Pfc. Charles Edward McElhaney of Hookstown R. D. 1 was pronounced dead on arrival at City Hospital of a crushed chest and punctured lung. He was stationed at Ft. Eustis, Va.

Two others were in the local hospital as an aftermath of the crash.

Grant Phillips, 22, of Aliquippa R. D. 2 was in "serious" condition with multiple fractured ribs and internal injuries.

Jack Morrow, 27, of Box, 52, Shippingport, suffered lacerations of the forehead, ear, chin and tongue. His condition was listed as "fairly good."

Pfc. McElhaney was born in Rochester, June 21, 1944, the son of Philip McElhaney, who now lives at Hookstown R. D. 1, and the late Edna McElhaney.

He was graduated from Hopewell Memorial High School in 1962, after which he joined the Army.

He attended the Service United Presbyterian Church in Raccoon Township.

In addition to his father, he leaves three brothers, William McElhaney of Hookstown R. D. 1; George McElhaney of Aliquippa R. D., and S. Sgt. James R. McElhaney, stationed at Seymor Johnston Air Force Base, N. C.; and three sisters, Mrs. Margaret Cataline of Escondido, Calif., Mrs. Irene Keushnereit of Aliquippa, and Mrs. Donna Lee Caler of Colorado Springs, Colo.

Services will be held Thursday at 1 p. m. at the C. E. Douds Funeral Home, 698 Franklin Ave., Aliquippa. Burial will be in Sylvania Hills Cemetery in Rochester.

Friends may call at the funeral home Tuesday from 7 to 9 p. m. and Wednesday from 3 to 5 and 7 to 9 p. m.

Threat Seen To Dominican Junta's Rule

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—A threat to the Dominican Republic's seven-month-old ruling junta appears to be developing from a transport strike which touched off violence in the capital.

Military and civilian leaders held separate conferences examining the situation.

Police failed to halt demonstrations Sunday that accompanied the strike of taxi and bus drivers.

The government declared the drivers' strike illegal, saying it was politically motivated and that the union had failed to give written notice stating the date and reasons for a strike.

Deputies Check Bullet Fired In Home's Door

LISBON — Sheriff's deputies are investigating a case in which a .45 caliber bullet was fired through the front door of a Lisbon area home late Saturday night, narrowly missing several occupants.

Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan said the slug lodged in an interior wall at the home of Clarence H. King near the Junction of Routes 30 and 172 west of the village. The bullet was dug out of the wall, he said.

Meanwhile, the sheriff's office was notified today a loose tire rolled off a truck Thursday, rolled down a grade and hit the home of Sam Greathouse of Substation Rd., damaging the siding.

School Program Grows

Opportunities Increase For Vocational Training

By BYRON EELLS

Only 38 per cent of East Liverpool High School's 1,300 students plan to further their education in college, technical, trade or other schools.

What will happen to the other 62 per cent with no apparent employable skill?

That's a problem that is of serious concern to school officials and should be of concern to the community.

The percentage of students continuing their education seems low when Principal Carl F. Pelini reports 40 per cent of the present student body enrolled in the college preparatory course alone. Another 32 per cent are in the general course and 28 per cent are taking the commercial course.

Of course, circumstances change and some students planning to further their education are unable to do so. A survey of the 1962 and 1963 classes by Asst. Supt. George Hargraves showed only 25 per cent in college and roughly 38 per cent who continued with some type of educational training in each class.

THE SCHOOL is taking some steps to help the other 62 per cent acquire employable skills. But it faces two immediate problems — how do you interest youngsters in acquiring training and how can you find places for the youngsters to be trained?

Twenty - two students with their eyes on their futures are enrolled in the two vocational training courses now offered. But more could be accommodated.

Eleven juniors are finishing the first year of a two-year course in industrial drafting designed to prepare them directly for jobs in industry or related work.

Pelini said about 30 could have been accommodated when the course began last September. However, only 14 actually enrolled and three later dropped out.

Eleven seniors are finishing the one - year diversified cooperative training program which is tantamount to on-the-job training. It is the second year the program has been held with 12 receiving certificates for completing the course in 1963.

But enrollment in the DCT program depends greatly on the number of "employer training stations" available. Some students have expressed interest in various fields, but the school has been unable to locate an available employer.

AND THERE'S another bugaboo. Successful placement of last year's graduates temporarily limits the opportunities. Seven of the 12 are employed locally and one in California. Two others are continuing their ed-

Victim's Hand Hurt

Man, 28, Nabbed On $1,450 Theft

A 28-year-old East Liverpool man was arrested Sunday on a charge he offered an elderly neighbor a ride to his home from the downtown area, then robbed him of $1,450 the victim had received in a lump sum Social Security payment.

Warren Melvin, 1201 Peake St., told officers he was robbed shortly after 11 p. m. Saturday by a man who picked him up in a car at W. 7th St. and Dresden Ave.

MELVIN told police the suspect offered him a ride about 11 Saturday night. But on the way home, the motorist took away his wallet, Melvin reported.

Melvin reported he fought with the suspect and succeeded in wresting away the wallet briefly, but the younger man won the struggle and kept the wallet and the money.

Melvin said his left hand was bruised, either during the struggle or when he was pushed out of the auto near his home.

HE SAID he was carrying the cash in a new black wallet. Melvin said he received the $1,450 in a lump sum payment from Social Security.

Brewster was arraigned this morning before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on an affidavit signed by Melvin alleging that he "unlawfully and by force and violence robbed Warren Melvin of $1,450 with intent to steal."

However, the charge was not read and no plea was entered after Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper requested a continuance.

Judge Chertoff set the hearing for Thursday morning and fixed Brewer's bond at $1,000. Brewer was represented by Atty. George Aronson.

Chief Americo Radeschi said police are continuing their investigation. None of the money has been recovered, he said.

Debate Scheduled Tonight

Racial Issue Still Grips Methodist Church Parley

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Controversy over the race question continued on and off the floor today at the 1964 General Conference of the Methodist Church.

In the forefront was a report which endorses civil disobedience within "most carefully circumstanced limits." The report, "Christian Social Concerns," is scheduled for debate tonight.

Integrationist forces moved behind the scenes to bring back to the floor a plan which calls for integration within the church on a voluntary and gradual basis. Integrationists want the plan strengthened.

The "Christian Social Concerns" report was presented over the weekend by the Rev. Harold A. Bosley, pastor of Christ Church, Methodist, New York.

Part of the report said:

"Christians have long recognized that after exhausting every reasonable legal means for redress of grievances, the individual is faced with the moral and legal dilemma of whether or not his peculiar circumstances require obedience to God rather than men."

Riot Blocks Orthodox Rite In Bulgaria

Communist Youths Stand In Path Of Sofia Churchgoers

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—The Soviet bloc's second riot in three days broke out in Sofia as Communist youths blocked the path of Bulgarian Orthodox churchgoers en route to Easter Mass.

Youth group demonstrations during Prague's May Day celebration Friday turned into battles with Czechoslovak police and resulted in 31 announced arrests.

The official Czech news agency, CTK, confirmed the disturbances in Prague, but Bulgarian government agencies remained silent about the clashes in Sofia.

Reports from Sofia said hundreds of churchgoers had been involved in clashes with both police and Communist youths.

Entrances to Aleksander Nevsky Cathedral in Sofia were blocked by youths shouting atheist slogans. Police closed the cathedral doors to prevent incidents, and the fighting ensued.

Patriarch Cyril, spiritual leader of the Bulgarian Orthodox Church, was to have celebrated the Resurrection Mass, climax of the Orthodox Easter celebration.

An announcement said the patriarch was ill and Bishop Nikolai, rector of the Academy of Theology, had taken the patriarch's place.

In Prague, CTK said the 31 persons under arrest had been charged with disturbing the peace. The news agency denied reports received outside Czechoslovakia that university students had led the rioting against the police.

Reports received in Vienna said 3,000 students had participated in the rioting in Kinsky Park, where they had gathered for traditional May Day poetry reading.

The reports, relayed by diplomatic sources, said the violence had bordered on open revolt. They said the students had shouted antigovernment slogans after police had ordered them to disperse.

Road Bond Issue Waits Ohio's Vote

$500 Million Plan Aimed To Speed Up Highway Program

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Issue No. 1—the $500 million bond issue proposal to speed up the state's major highway construction program from two to three years, goes to Ohio voters for decision in Tuesday's primary election.

It has won top-heavy support in every section of the state—but not without scattered opposition, particularly from leading Democrats who challenge the claim it can be done without increasing taxes.

But the Committee for Highway Progress, formed to promote passage of the issue, said in a last appeal it can be done without increasing taxes, and told how.

The committee exhibits endorsements from more than 120 statewide and local civic, labor and business organizations, 126 mayors and city managers from all sections of the state, along with a good part of the state's newspapers.

If passed, the committee says, it will permit advance of construction of 488 miles of freeways, expressways and other highways—and, Gov. James A. Rhodes adds, improve employment and help establish new industries.

"Keep Ohio Rolling" is the slogan of the proponents. The committee had these answers to those who claim it cannot be done without increasing taxes:

"Money for highways comes from fuel taxes, license fees, the axle mile tax trucks pay, highway fines and similar sources; general funds are not used for highways.

"You pay 11 cents a gallon gasoline tax—4 cents federal and 7 cents state. State taxes are sufficient to retire $500 million to be issued for the new highways. Issue No. 1 will neither raise nor lower present highway taxes.

"From the 4 cents collected by the federal government, 90 per cent of the cost of the federal interstate system is paid; and 50 per cent of our other major highway construction costs.

"These roads are scheduled. They will be built. The question is when? By speeding up, we save in actual construction and right-of-way costs.

After Carrier's Sinking

U.S. Destroyer In Viet Nam For Show Of Force

SAIGON, Vet Nam (AP) — The U. S. Destroyer Lyman Swenson arrived in Saigon today for what could be an American show of force following the sinking of the aircraft transport Card in the Saigon River.

A Navy spokesman said the Swenson was on a routine operational visit. Aboard was Capt. C. C. Hartigan Jr., commander of the 7th Fleet's Destroyer Squadron Nine.

The Swenson tied up within sight of the Card, which has been partially refloated since terrorists tore a 28-foot hole in its side with explosives before dawn Saturday.

Salvage workers were patching the hole preparatory to pumping out the vessel.

Saigon still was tense and on the alert Monday with patrols checking downtown traffic and troops swarming around the dock area.

No one was seriously injured aboard the Card but eight Americans and a Vietnamese were wounded when another terrorist tossed a handgrenade into their midst in Saigon Saturday night.

Four of the wounded said they wanted to get back to the battle zone as soon as they could.

"It's safer there than here in Saigon," said Lt. Hector Dittamo, 22, of West Paterson, N.J., with a wry smile.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge had driven along the Saigon Street Saturday night just 10 minutes before a Viet Cong terrorist on a bicycle lobbed the handmade grenade into a group of American servicemen.

Pfc. Joseph G. Gustafson, 25, of Bayfield, Wis., said he saw the grenade rolling at them.

"I hollered 'Watch it' and started to run. There was a tremendous bang. I kept running. I didn't realize I'd been hit until I looked down and there was blood all over me."

"It exploded two feet away from me. I guess it's a miracle I'm still alive," said Spec. 4 John Arnett, 19, of Louisville, Ky.

Sen. Young, Glenn Fight Being Eyed

Taft And Brown Paired In Bid On Republican Ticket

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The feeling in Ohio today is that anything might happen in the Democratic and Republican primaries tomorrow.

By all the odds, Sen. Stephen M. Young, who is observing his 75th birthday today, should win renomination handily.

But there is the intriguing question of how a famous name on the Democratic ballot—that of ailing astronaut Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr.—will fare.

In the Republican contest, Rep. Robert Taft Jr. has all the betting on his side on a contest with Secretary of State Ted W. Brown for the GOP senatorial nomination.

But here, too, there is the rather unbelievable issue of whether the son of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, who was known as Mr. Republican, is too "liberal" to succeed his famously conservative father.

The New Hampshire primary seemed to prove that, as far as it concerned Republicans, the man who wasn't there fared best in a presidential contest. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, half a world away in Saigon, walked off with the state's 14 delegates in a tremendous write-in surge.

The situation in Ohio is only comparable in the fact that Glenn has not been able to campaign because he fell against a bathtub in Columbus, Ohio, late in February and developed an inner ear disturbance which he announced would not permit him to run or to accept nomination even if the voters gave it to him.

The Ohio voters are going to have their say tomorrow on several questions. Does a famous name and personality override in the average citizens's mind the service that may have been given to him by a sitting senator?

Is there what might be called a "therapy" vote by those who think it might help Glenn's ear condition if they said they wanted him for their senatorial nominee? Are enough sympathetic voters willing to mark Glenn's name on the ballot to retire Young?

Beyond this is the element of the publicly unspoken preference of the late President John F. Kennedy and his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, for Glenn.

Every piece of political logic in Ohio says that Young should win, handy down. But will he:

On the Republican side the same logic dictates that the younger Taft, a much more personable candidate than his father, should take the GOP senatorial nomination easily.

Voters Eye 7 Primaries On Tuesday

One Of Most Active Pre-Convention Campaign Periods

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seven primary elections Tuesday touch off one of the most active pre-convention weeks of the political season.

Voters in Indiana, Ohio, Oklahoma, Alabama, Florida, New Mexico and the District of Columbia and state conventions in Delaware, Michigan, Alaska, Nevada and Wyoming will:

—Express a preference for a presidential nominee.

—Nominate candidates for two governors' mansions, four Senate seats and 63 House seats.

—Decide other issues ranging from unpledged presidential electors to a right-to-work labor law.

Most of the attention will be on Indiana, where Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama makes another bid for Northern votes in his campaign against the Johnson administration's civil rights bill. He is opposed in the Democratic presidential preference primary by Indiana Gov. Matthew E. Welsh, a stand-in for President Johnson, and three other candidates. The winner can lay claim to 51 first-ballot votes.

On the Republican side Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona is the odds-on favorite to top a field of four which includes Harold E. Stassen of Philadelphia and two lesser-known candidates. The winner gets Indiana's 32-first-ballot votes at the Republican National Convention.

Bright, Warm Weather Due To Aid Voting

Only 'Mild' Interest Seen For County's Primary Tuesday

Sunny, warm weather may encourage Columbiana County voters to go to the polls in the primary elections Tuesday to nominate slates for state, district and county offices.

But only "mild" interest is seen in the balloting, with a total vote of not more than 16,000.

On the county end of the ticket, both Republicans and Democrats will settle wide-open races for two nominations for county commissioner. The Democrats also have a two - man race for the nomination for state representative. All other county candidates are unopposed.

Meanwhile, Frank R. O'Hanlon, Election Board clerk, emphasized today that those who are not 21 tomorrow but will be 21 by Nov. 3 cannot vote on the state road amendment or any special question and issue in a subdivision, such as the East Liverpool school tax levies.

However, they are entitled to vote in the primary of their choice, he explained.

O'Hanlon stressed that precinct officials should challenge any question and issue ballot if they have reason to believe the voter is not 21.

Some servicemen and college students have obtained absentee ballots and probably received ballots on the state amendment and on special questions and issues, he said, since they merely certify they are qualified voters.

However, the board has learned that some are not entitled to cast ballots on the special questions and issues because of the age requirement, although they could vote for candidates.

The 165 polling places in Columbiana County will be open from 6:30 a. m. to 6:30 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, which

Canvass Raises $686 For Scholarship Fund

Volunteer workers collected $686 Sunday in a house-to-house drive that covered 35 per cent of the East Liverpool School District for the "Dollars for Scholars" project of the Citizens Scholarship Foundation.

Frank Potts and John Parsons, co-chairmen, said the solicitation will continue this week to cover homes in the remainder of the school district.

Robert Conroy is drive chairman. Proceeds will be used to provide financial aid to qualified students seeking to attend college. The scholarships will be presented at a banquet in June.

FULDA, Germany (AP) — Three 20-year-old East Germans crossed the border into West Germany Sunday night, West German customs officials reported today.

End Split, North Viet Urges Soviet, China

TOKYO (AP)—The situation of world communism is grave, the North Vietnamese government said in calling on the Communist parties of the Soviet Union and China to patch up their split.

The North Vietnamese Reds suggested Sunday that Peking and the Kremlin resume the talks they broke off in Moscow last July and pledge to strive "for the unity of the Socialist camp and the international Communist movement."

Vital School Issues

Critical decisions are faced by voters in East Liverpool, Beaver Local and Southern Local School Districts Tuesday with school levies being considered.

In all three districts, serious effects on the operation of the schools will result unless the levies are approved by a majority vote.

East Liverpool district will ballot on two levies, totaling 12 mills, which represent $629,400 in revenue and $1 million in state foundation funds.

School officials have pointed out the levies mean no increase in taxation and are vital to the financial structure of the school district which ranks 126th among 155 city school districts in Ohio on money spent per child for operating expenses.

BEAVER LOCAL district will decide a proposed new 5-mill levy designed to bolster a lamentably low teacher pay scale which has caused extreme faculty turnover in the past and poses a threat to satisfactory education in the future.

Southern Local district voters are asked to approve a proposed 8.8-mill issue, consisting of a renewal of a current 4.4-mill levy and a new 4.4-mill levy.

Again, the finances from this combined issue are termed necessary to provide just a satisfactory education for the district which has had to expand its faculty and other facilities to meet increased student enrollment.

The need for support of a modern, growing educational system for our young people is so apparent, it is difficult to understand why some people express opposition to school taxes.

In East Liverpool district, only continuation of the present taxes are sought. In Beaver Local, a new tax is sought—but just to retain its present educational standards.

In Southern Local, a renewal of one tax and an additional tax are on the ballot—again just to keep the present standards, because the school system has grown and expenses have increased.

A PROPER EDUCATION is mandatory for today's boys and girls who will compete for a career or way of life against young people who are in educational systems with more money, thus with better facilities.

Unfortunately, education is related to the amount of money spent on it, just as the quality of one's home, car, lawn, clothing, cigarettes and other material things is reflected by the sum invested.

However education is an intangible thing, a means of preparing each generation for life, a system of continuing our culture and fitting our citizens of the future for their increasing responsibilities.

In the interest of the young people in these three school districts and in the interest of preserving a fundamental part of community life, these school issues deserve the full support of the voters.

Appellate Court Contests

Competition for judicial nominations in Tuesday's general election is confined in both parties in Columbiana County to the Seventh District Court of Appeals.

Veteran Judge Joel H. Sharp of Salem is without opposition on the Republican ballot for re-election to Common Pleas Court, and North-eastern County Court Judge Herbert Arfman of Leetonia is unopposed on the Democratic slate.

Two seats are at stake on the Appellate bench—those now held by Judge George M. Jones of Youngstown and Judge James M. France of Kent, neither of whom has opposition from his own party in the primary.

Two Democrats seeking to contest Judge Jones, a Republican, in the fall are John J. Lynch and Paul J. Fleming, both of Youngstown. Judge Jones will stand eminently qualified over the Democrat selected Tuesday.

District Republicans can be expected to support Mahoning County Judge John A. Reddy of Sebring over Henry C. Robinson and Nils P. Johnson of Youngstown as the candidate to face Judge France in November. Judge Reddy, a Harvard Law School graduate, has been a practicing attorney for many years.

Let Constitution Alone

We admire the earnest people who want children to grow up in the knowledge and reverence of a Supreme Being. We hope they will heed the testimony of equally earnest and devout people before the House Judiciary Committee that tampering with the First Amendment to the Constitution is no way to inculcate devotion and humility in the young.

We hope they also will realize that Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, who wants to tamper with the Constitution, has an ulterior motive to chastise the U.S. Supreme Court for its 1954 ruling on school integration.

He and other Southern irreconcilables are conducting a vendetta against the Supreme Court. Its ruling that political authority cannot dictate what prayers and religious exercises shall be used in public schools gave them a chance to turn public wrath against Chief Justice Warren and his associates.

THEY AND THEIR accomplices have misrepresented what the court ruled.

Charles H. Tuttle, general counsel for National Council of Churches, summarized the ruling before the House Judiciary Committtee like this:

"It banned formulation by the government of a religious exercise to be incorporated in the program of public schools the National Council of Churches, summarized the ruling before the House where the assembage was brought about by compulsion of law."

Mr. Tuttle, considered a constitutional authority, pointed out what has been plain to all open-minded people who have read the Supreme Court decisions.

They banned nothing except religious exercises prescribed by public authority. Any child, any teacher, any administrator can pray at will. But no one in authority can impose his religious beliefs on anyone else through public schools.

THERE IS NO need to amend the Constituon to settle the issue of public school prayer.

There is need only to let the Constitution strictly alone while heeding the Supreme Court's rulings on the matter.

And there is special need to understand what the Wallaces are up to when they jump into this fight. They are trying to discredit the U. S. Supreme Court for ruling that the 14th Amendment means what it says about civil rights.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: Please do not try to draw us into a donnybrook over the possibility that space ships from outer space may be making contact with the earth.

You don't need to waste valuable time convincing us that this is possible. Are we not convinced that earthings can and will make trips to outer space, starting with trips to the moon, in this century?

Are we not convinced that in another century, perhaps sooner, ordinary people will go from earth to live on heavenly bodies as colonists? This is no harder to believe than the now commonplace but once incredible crossings of the oceans and continents of this earth.

This summer, explorers will go from one end of the Arctic Ocean to the other, repeating on the surface the submarine voyage of the Nautilus a few years ago. It wasn't many years ago that our imagination was taxed by "Lindy" when he flew the Atlantic Ocean alone. And now we are spending billions to make a trip to the moon and back.

NO, DEAR NEPHEW, you do not need to convince us that recurrent trips to the earth from other inhabited places in space are possible. If we can do the incredible, so can they. We do not know who they are. But we do not boggle at the possibility they exist.

In our humility, we find it easy to believe we may be among the least skilled, most ignorant, least advanced and most in need of help of all knowledgeable forms of life in the universe.

We find it easy to believe that, relative to other knowledgable forms of life in the universe, we may be as possums are to us humans.

We find it easy to believe that if the earth is being looked over systematically by beings from outer space they may return to their home base and report this planet is inhabited by "insects," some of which show a high sense of organization. They would think of us the way we think of ants and bees.

IT HAS BEEN brought to our attention that this is a wild way to think and cuts across the grain of religious beliefs. But this is the way we think it is.

If we were put through laboratory tests someday by superior beings from elsewhere in the universe we would find it a comfort to know we had thought of the possibility of their existence; that we had not been as narrow and parochial as those poor wretches here on earth who cannot conceive of life on the other side of their mountain.

We don't want to go to the mat with anyone over the possibility that space ships from outer space may be touching down on the earth from time to time to check up on the low-grade fauna and flora of this planet. Our minds are made up. We are ready for the shock of learning that in a limitless universe we are not alone.

Regards to all the little people.

It was in 1921 that an Unknown Soldier from World War I was buried in Arlington National Cemetery, on the Potomac River opposite Washington, D.C. Hoffa Battles For Union Finances

By Victor Riesel

At least $850,000 has been drawn from the Teamsters' national treasury since 1962 to defend James Hoffa against federal criminal charges. Now the government is considering action to force the hyper-tensioned Teamsters' chief either to repay the full amount to the union or to declare it earned income and pay personal taxes on it.

Victor Riesel

If a successful Treasury Dept. action develops, Hoffa would have to pay more than $600,000 in back taxes and a considerable sum in interest. Other suits can be brought by the secretary of labor and by rank-and-file union committees under the labor-management reporting and disclosure act of 1959 for recovery of the money.

Although Hoffa has drawn more money in salary and expenses than any other labor leader in the world, he does not have such ready funds. In 1963 Hoffa received $94,013.70 from the Teamsters' Brotherhood, in addition to the use of a private plane and thousands of dollars for hotel suites, food and commercial travel expenses.

SOME LEGAL experts now examining the 1959 law believe that responsibility for all funds rests with the Teamsters' three national trustees and the 15-member general executive board.

Insiders say that this accounts for many of the objections to Hoffa's continued use of the big money and for his own willingness to refer the matter to an impartial legal authority.

There is no organized revolt against Hoffa at the moment among the vacillating and often frightened members of the board. Only two men now are willing to stand up against Hoffa. They are New York's Teamsters' chief, Johnny O'Rourke, fifth vice president and general organizer who has always been a rebel both behind the scenes and out front, and Philadelphia's John B. Backhus, eighth vice president.

Most of the others have assured Hoffa in recent telephone calls that they simply want to protect themselves financially by going through legal processes. They have reassured him they certainly are not opposed to the Brotherhood's paying for the cadres of attorneys and massive court costs.

HOFFA MAY be jumpy but he has not lost his sense of strategy. He has his defense all worked out. The cocky labor chief is counting on sections of the 1961 national constitution which he helped write.

The vital portion for Hoffa is Article 9, Section 9 — a clause unique in labor history. Not only does it permit Teamsters' leaders their expenditures in the courts and for endless investigations, but it opens the way for the spending of the union's entire $42.562 million worth of assets. Under Hoffa the Teamsters have kept a bank balance of more than $13 million and as much as $176,507 in the headquarters as "cash on hand."

Legal Expenses

Section 9 (a). The International Union is authorized to pay all expenses for investigating services, employment of all counsel and other necessary expenditures in any cause, matter, case or cases where an officer, representative, employee, agent or one charged with acting in behalf of the International Union and-or its affiliates is charged with any violation or violations of any law or is sued in any civil action or actions (1) if a majority of the General Executive Board in its sole discretion determines that said charges or law suits are (a) unfounded, or (b) are politically motivated or (c) were filed in bad faith in an attempt to embarrass or destroy the Union or the Union officer or representative, (2) or if a majority of the General Executive Board in its sole discretion determines that the expenditures should be made."

Thus, the executive board can approve disbursement of union funds for the defense of persons who are not even members of the Teamsters.

THEY CAN, in effect, approve heavy expenditures for defense of officials and others if the board believes charges are "politically motivated" or brought in "bad faith" or simply if it "in its sole discretion determines that the expenditures should be made." All that Hoffa needs for approval of withdrawals is a majority of the board — or seven members in addition to himself.

This should not be difficult for him to get. Many of the board members are beholden to him for extra titles and jobs which bring them more than $20,000 yearly in addition to their regular union offices.

A regional organizer's post, for example, pays $20,000 yearly and expenses. Thus some of the vice presidents draw more than $30,000 annually in addition to other salaries. Hoffa has the power to lop them off the national payroll and they are not eager to lose the extra income and power.

So they may yet vote Hoffa the authority to draw his gargantuan legal expenses. But they'll have to reckon with the government which has other ideas.

The Right To Pray

By David Lawrence

Paradox Seen In Legal Restrictions

Is the right to pray in a classroom or anywhere else a civil right?

David Lawrence

The right of parents to send their children to public schools in their own neighborhood to be educated along with persons of another race or religion is widely construed today as a civil right. But the right to pray is being encumbered now with legal obstacles and restrictions that are supported by various religious groups themselves.

Such a paradoxical situation may not really be due alone to religious prejudices but to fears of misuse of the privilege of praying. There is such a sensiiveness about the possibility that the teachers in a public school might influence the re- that testimony presented before the House Judiciary Committee by the National Council of Churches argues it is better that there be no prayers at all in the classroom.

Yet the blame for the big crime wave in America today can be placed upon the failure of society to indoctrinate youth at an early age with moral principles and a sense of individual responsibility.

Many members of Congress believe that, if a reverence for God were introduced in the classroom, this would tend to build up in the minds of the young a respect for the rights of others and a trend toward responsible behavior.

IT'S EASY enough to say that all this should be done in the home by the parents or on Sundays in the churches. In many homes the parents are busily engaged in their occupations and spend a limited amount of time with their children, while the classroom teachers, on the other hand, have an opportunity five days a week — all day long — to inculcate the simple rules of human behavior, buttressed by a belief in a supreme being.

The whole controversy hinges to a large extent on whether there can be a voluntary prayer in the school room. In the testimony presented by the National Council of Churches to the House Judiciary Committee this week, objection was raised to the composition of official prayers by any governmental body or to any requirement to use a particular prayer.

This is understandable and has been widely accepted. Puzzlement arises, however, when in the same testimony occurs the following:

"But whether prayers may be offered at special occasions in the public schools may well be left to the judgment of the board responsible for the program of the public schools in the local community.' The last sentence quoted (from the pronouncement of the council's general board) is designed to distinguish between required daily prayers in classrooms, which are not countenanced and prayers at commencements or special assemblies, which may be if the local board desires."

THIS IS a distinction not easily applied, for if the local board can permit prayers at special exercises, it is difficult to see why it can't do so in regular proceedings of a school. The teacher can readily explain that a time has been reserved for prayer, that the exercises are voluntary and that the children who do not participate have been requested by their parents not to do so.

The wording of the prayer can be agreed to by the parents of those children who do participate. School children would certainly understand the reasons for participation or nonparticipation, and the importance of the fact that it would be voluntary. The National Council testimony goes on to say:

"Religious practices that are 'non - sectarian' are too vague and generalized to have much meaning or effect for character development or moral motivation; whereas practices which are specific or demanding enough to effect character or motiviation are unacceptable to some and therefore 'sectarian.'"

THERE ARE atheists who contend that they are just as moral as those who believe in God. No attempt is being made to interfere with their right to hold such beliefs. The sole purpose of those who are advocating prayer in the classroom is to do something constructive to affect the character of the children of those parents who have no objection to a belief in God and want their children to be permitted to pray in school to a supreme being.

There is much discussion today as to whether a constitutional amendment is needed. The Supreme Court's rulings have been largely based on the rejection of a system in New York whereby a governmental agency itself prescribed the wording of the prayer, which was held to be a violation of the Constitution.

In order to be on the safe side, those who do not want all religion removed from the schools feel that a constitutional amendment would clarify the subject and preserve the rights of all concerned.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

We of the Association for the Advancement of Education would like to urge support for the proposed 5-mill levy in the Beaver Local School District.

Many folks who live in our area have wondered why such a levy is necessary. Quite simply, it is to provide a better quality education for our students, who certainly deserve every break we as parents can give to them.

The money which will be received from this levy, if passed, will put our district in a more competitive position in hiring teachers (by being able to offer salaries equal to or more than that which is offered in neighboring communities).

As things stand, our teachers are the lowest paid of any teacher group in the county. And because of this situation, just last year, 30 members of the Beaver Local teaching staff left us for greener pastures in other schools where they could receive more money for just about the same amount of work.

We don't think that this is fair to our students. In fact, we certainly cannot expect our children to give their best now or in the years to come, when such high teacher turnover is evident. It goes without saying, that this situation produces inconsistent academic standards.

However, we certainly can't blame those teachers who did leave us. When someone can earn between $500 and $1,200 more in a year's time, who could blame them.

Those of us in the association firmly believe that if our community is to have any future at all, it is going to lie in our children's hands. And if we are going to prepare them to take care of their future responsibilities, we must see to it that they are given every opportunity to get the best possible education now.

This can be accomplished only if those living in the Beaver Local School District will vote Yes in the election Tuesday. This will enable Beaver Local to become a better all-around school system with a better quality education for its students.

It is a great challenge for us. But it is even a greater opportunity. Again, we urge all voters in the Beaver Local School District to vote Yes for the proposed 5-mill levy.

MRS. VERONICA WOLKSI,
Co-Chairman of the Association for Advancement of Education in Beaver Local District.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

The Federal government enacted a tax cut to help the family budget. Now the tax spenders would wipe out that benefit by a tax levy that is not needed.

The state finance director warned all boards of education to stay within their budgets. Economy - minded boards did just that.

The President has asked that wages and prices be kept down so that another tax cut be possible later on.

It is up to the voters of Beaver Local to again vote no on this levy so that we do not lose the benefit of this recent federal tax cut.

Training

ucation and two entered the armed forces.

Pelini is planning an orientation program for sophomores to interest them in the drafting course and a similar program for juniors about the DCT course.

Separate orientation programs when the purposes of the two programs will be explained to the sophomores and juniors will be held Wednesday, May 13.

Surprisingly, four girls are enrolled in the drafting course. But then perhaps it is not so surprising after you hear the instructor, Joseph L. Butorac, explain there is a shortage of women with a knowledge of drafting symbols in industry.

Despite reports that many companies will not hire a woman draftsman regardless of their capability, Penny L. Titus is going to seek employment in that field.

If Penny can't find drafting work, she plans to attend business college. Between the drafting course and secretarial training, she hopes to become an "engineering secretary".

Penny says she enrolled in the course because she had no plans to further her education beyond the business college course and the salary and the possibility of advancement attracted her.

ALWAYS INTERESTED in mechanical drawing, Rosemarie Lisle inquired from a teacher if a girl would fit in a course like drafting. She doesn't expect to be employed as a draftsman after graduation but hopes to continue her education and then enter drafting or a related field.

But Rosemarie feels the course can be valuable in everyday life. "Just being able to read a blueprint is important," she says.

Bob Ash would like to be a civil engineer but if he can't attend college he would prefer attending trade school or take engineering training in the armed forces.

By completing the drafting course, he will be able to read blueprints and will know a little about the weights, stresses and qualities of some materials.

Jim Farnsworth hopes to get a job as a draftsman or in related work after graduation next month.

Mike Newlen, Butch Nicholson, Gary Densmore, Don Purinton and Gary Bonnell would like to take advanced drafting courses. Bennell would like to make the course a stepping-stone toward becoming an engineer; Purinton and Newlen would prefer tool design and Densmore is interested in engineering or architecture. Nicholson leans toward more drafting so he will be better prepared for any job he gets.

MOST OF THE students became interested in the course in an orientation program conducted last year. Before enrolling, however, those interested were required to take a general aptitude test conducted by the Ohio State Employment Service.

The drafting class is held three hours each morning. In the afternoon, the students study work related to drafting, including the required mathematics, algebra and trigonometry. They also take English III and one elective subject.

Butorac explains they will not be finished draftsmen, but will have basic knowledge of drawing, tool design, architectural drafting, layout work, sheet metal work, and knowledge of the types of steel required to make different finishes.

A resident of Canton, he attended Kent State for 2½ years and was employed in industry for 14 years as a draftsman, machinist and welder, last working at Thompson Ramo Woolridge in Minerva.

One of the qualifications to be an instructor in the vocational work is seven years on-the-job training.

The DCT program is a cooperative effort by the school, students, parents and employers to provide an opportunity for vocational training and is designed specifically to meet the needs of smaller communities where there are no vocational high schools.

DCT STUDENTS must be full-fledged seniors with no failures, but are not required to maintain any particular scholastic rating.

They must attend DCT classes for two periods a day and also take economics and American government required for graduation.

The remaining half day is spent with the employer - trainer in on-the-job instruction and experience. It requires a minimum of 15 hours per week.

In addition to being graded by the coordinator, Vernon Walrath, students are rated by the employers. They also received a beginner's wage determined by an advisory committee.

Interested students fill out an application blank, which also must be signed by the parents. The coordinator then attempts to find a suitable training station for the student's chosen trade.

TO MEET STATE and federal requirements, DCT students must be at least 16 and have working permits and social security numbers. General working conditions have to meet state and federal health and safety standards.

The class this year with the classification and employer are:

Roberta Brown, medical assistant, Dr. A. S. Fisher; Trudy Mumaw, dental assistant, Dr. F. D. Irwin; Beth Wolfe, dental assistant, Drs. R. J. and C. M. Kinsey; Forest Estell, auto body repair, Burchett's Auto Repair; Jeff Huddleston, auto mechanic, Litten Sales and Service.

Eleven Remain In Hospital After Mishap At Game

BALTIMORE (AP) — Eight girls and three boys, most of them recuperating from surgery, remained hospitalized today while the mayor awaited a report on Saturday's traffic jam on an escalator at Memorial Stadium.

Thirty - five other children were hurt and one killed in the accident before an American League baseball game between the Baltimore Orioles and Cleveland Indians.

At least seven of the children were expected to remain in hospitals for at least a week. All 11 were reported in satisfactory condition.

The crowd at Sunday's game between the same two teams was asked to stand for "A moment of saddened reverence" for Annette Costantini, the 14-year-old girl found dead near the top of the moving stairway.

She was among nearly 20,000 members of the school safety patrols from throughout Maryland who were free guests of the Orioles.

A secured metal barrier at the top of the escalator channeled riders off the moving stairs into a 28-inch wide exit. Witnesses said the children were going up three and four abreast.

Dinner And Sale Held At Dungannon Church

Over 800 attended a ham and chicken dinner and bake sale Sunday afternoon at St. Phillip Neri Catholic Church at Dungannon.

Women of St. Agatha Church of West Point were in charge of the bake sale. Proceeds will go to their Summer School of Religion.

Many of those attending visited a nearby log cabin where the first mass was said in Dungannon in 1817 and also visited the grave of Fr. E. W. J. Lindsmith, the first priest in Columbiana County.

16 Boys Watched After Being Near An X-Ray Device

NEW YORK (AP)—The parents of 16 boys kept an anxious eye on the youngsters today for signs they might have suffered ill effects from playing near a radioactive device.

The boys, aged 10 to 14, were rushed to a hospital Sunday after they were spotted playing near an X-ray machine being used to test for flaws in steel beams in construction of the new Metropolitan Opera House.

The examining physician at Roosevelt Hospital said that in cases of radioactive exposure where there is no nausea or external burns, there is no test that could determine whether there was any injury.

He released the boys to their parents, telling them that if the children developed any unusual symptoms they would be returned to the hospital.

The X-ray device, contained in a lead box the size of an overnight case, is used only on Sundays when there are no workers about.

No Parley Scheduled In Strike Of Glaziers

Paul E. Carter of East Liverpool, business agent, said the Winland Plate Glass Co., Weirton Plate & Window Glass, Steubenville Plate Glass and Ohio Plate and Mirror of Steubenville have not replied to the local's proposal for a new two-year contract with wage increase and fringe benefits. The only counter - offer has been a proposal to cut wages 25-cents an hour, Carter said.

Contract work of the four companies in other communities also has been halted because of the strike, Carter said, explaining the union notified locals in other communities of the strike action.

Trio Injured In 2 Hancock Auto Mishaps

Three persons were injured, none seriously, in three separate traffic crashes over the weekend investigated by Hancock County sheriff's deputies.

Deputies cited both drivers in one collision Saturday at 11:50 p. m. on the Route 30 Chester Hill.

It involved the eastbound sedan of Tom R. Bowen, 16, of 114 Virginia Ave., Chester, and the sedan of Oliver Holmes, 61, of Industry R. D. 1, who was hurt.

Deputies said Bowen was eastbound on Route 30 and Holmes was pulling onto Route 30 and turning west from the parking lot at Terrace Lanes bowling alleys. Bowen spotted the car ahead, applied his brakes, and skidded into the car of Holmes, deputies said.

Holmes was cited on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way and the youngster on a charge of failure to have his vehicle under control. They are slated for hearings this afternoon at 4:30 before Squire Harry Lytton of Newell.

Holmes was treated at City Hospital for contusions of the chest. Both cars were damaged heavily, the sheriff's office reported.

Mrs. Cora Burch, 51, of 527 Harrison St., Newell, suffered a possible back injury in a collision of her car and another driven by Gilbert Hess, 48, of Akron Saturday at 5:50 p. m. at the intersection of 6th and Washington Sts., in Newell.

Mrs. Burch was pulling onto Washington St. from 6th St., and Hess was southbound on Washington St.

The sheriff's office said Deputy Lester Wehner, directing cars at the intersection in heavy traffic, motioned Mrs. Burch onto Washington St., and signaled Hess to halt. Hess continued and struck Mrs. Burch's car, deputies said. Hess was cited on a charge of failure to have his auto under control.

Mrs. Iva Dales of New Haven, Ind., suffered contusions of the face when the car in which she was riding was struck by a hit-skip motorist, she said. She was treated at City Hospital at 12:20 a. m. Sunday after the mishap on Route 66 near Newell. Deputies investigated, but the report was unavailable this morning.

Court Denounces Driver

East End Man Fined $200 On Fraud In Car License

An East End man was fined the maximum $200 and costs today in Municipal Court for obtaining license plates falsely after a scathing denunciation by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, who declared the defendant's past record showed he was "not fit to drive."

Leroy F. Black, 2314 Harvey Ave., received the penalty after pleading guilty to an affidavit filed by Howard Lisk of Lisbon, an inspector for the Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

The affidavit alleged that on March 31 Black applied for and received plates L-1763-E "knowing his driving rights and right of registration had been suspended under the financial responsibility laws of this state."

Lisk told the court Black's license was suspended for two years on Sept. 4, 1962, for failure to deposit financial responsibility insurance.

On July 15, 1963, Black was mailed another suspension notice stemming from a manslaughter charge and on April 2 this year another suspension notice was mailed in connection with a judgment obtained against him.

All three suspensions resulted from a traffic accident May 19, 1962, in which a 16-year-old girl was killed, Lisk said.

Black disputed the judge' assertion that he had lied in applying for the new registration. After the judge read the standard statement asking whether the applicant is under revocation of his license and the defendant's negative answer, Black maintained he never had been asked the question.

However, he admitted signing the application, but said he did not read it.

"You're no stranger to this court," Judge Chertoff said. After telling Black the penalty for the violation provides for a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $200, the judge remarked: "I certainly think the statute should be changed, at least in your case. Your past record shows you are not fit to drive."

After pronouncing the fine, Judge Chertoff warned the defendant: "If you are ever here again on a traffic violation, even as much as a traffic light, it will go very hard on you."

Black was returned to East Liverpool by Patrolman S. E. Hayes after waiving extradition from Midland, where he had been taken into custody for driving on an invalid driver's license. He had posted $107.50 bond for today's hearing.

Steubenville Area Girl Cited For Car Mishap

One area auto accident was investigated over the weekend by the Wintersville State Highway Patrol near Steubenville.

Officers said cars driven by Patricia Thompson, 17, of Steubenville R. D. 1 and John R. Cornell, 23, of Ferndale Heights, New Cumberland, were involved in a collision Saturday at 12:15 p. m. on Route 7 a half mile north of Route 213 at Yellow Creek.

The girl started to pass the Cornell car and hit the left rear, officers said. She was cited to Juvenile Court at Steubenvlile.

Gem-Wise
Jewelry fashions, facts, fictions

By J. A. LOCKE, JR.
Member American Gem Society

Hardly a day goes by that someone doesn't ask me to explain how professional jewelers determine the value of diamonds. Possibly, some of you have heard of the "Four C's" — a trade term referring to the quality factors of Color, Clarity, Cutting and Carat Weight. It is these four elements that form the basis establishing the diamond's price per carat.

Most diamonds on the market today have some degree of natural yellowish body color. As this faintly yellow tinge deepens, value falls. The finest Color grade is a true absence of color. Blue-white is an abused term that is seldom used by ethical jewelers. While there are bluish and blue diamonds, such as the Hope Diamond, these stones are extremely rare museum pieces.

Clarity refers to the presence of minute inclusions, carbon spots, or other blemishes inside the stone. When none are visible under 10X magnification, the diamond may properly be termed "Flawless." Blemishes or cleavage "fractures" visible to the eye naturally reduce the value of the stone appreciably since the beauty of the diamond is diminished.

Cutting is the single most important element in judging diamond quality, since the intrinsic fire and brilliance that we so admire in the stone is lost through improper cutting. Every diamond must be cut according to exact mathematical proportions, with each angle correctly placed and polished. Carat Weight is of lesser importance than the other three factors, since a large stone of poor color and cut will have a lower price per carat than a smaller stone that is more nearly ideal in Color, Cutting and Clarity.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Ann, Honey, we read your great little column every day, Doll, and we believe your advice is generally sound, often helpful and sometimes, Cupcake, it is downright hilarious.

However, Toots, your adorable little cutesy-wootsy names for those who write to you are a bit much.

So, Babe, will you kindly cut out the chummy little handles? The Buddy-Boy approach to a person who may be twice your age detracts from your otherwise sensible writing — and you should know it, Sweetie.

We sincerely hope you will accept this criticism in the spirit of friendship, since this is the way it is intended, Buttercup.— SUGAR AND SPICE.

Dear S and S: Thanks. I'll watch it, Lambie Pie.

Charity Blackmail

Dear Ann: Can you settle an argument I have been having with my wife?

She has asked me to hand over the names of the manufacturers with whom I do business. (I'm the purchasing agent for a fairly large company.) She wants to write letters to these suppliers asking for donations to her pet charity — which, by the way, is a worthy one.

I feel that these solicitations would be improper. She claims other wives do it, and if she doesn't get money out of these manufacturers for her charity, some other wives will get it for their charity.

What is your opinion? — CHICAGO V.P.

Dear Veep: Your wife is going to hate me, but I agree with you. Her letter would add up to blackmail. She knows very well that a supplier is not likely to ignore a request from the wife of a purchasing agent — and that's precisely why she wants the list.

Such requests could backfire and cost you plenty. Example: What if a supplier handed over a nice fat check to your wife's charity and later you discovered that this supplier's merchandise was inferior or that his prices were out of line? You'd find yourself in a nice box.

Don't allow her to put you under obligation to your suppliers because she wants to make a dazzling showing as a fund raiser.

Open-Door Policy

Dear Ann: Now that summer is almost here and the children are running in and out of the house, it's impossible to keep the doors locked. Will you please say something in your column about friends, neighbors and relatives who walk right in?

I have been scared out of my wits by neighbors who appear from nowhere and tap me on the shoulder while I am making a bed or vacuuming a rug. One woman actually goes from room to room looking for me. Yesterday she opened the bathroom door and I was in the tub.

There are times when I hear people knock and I don't want to be bothered, so I pretend not to hear. They walk right in and shout, "Yoo hoo! I know you're home because the door is open."

Please tell me what to do. I am hogtied. — OPEN SESAME.

Dear Open: Keep your door locked. Instruct your children to knock or ring the bell in a special way so you'll know who it is. You can then ignore all other knocks and bell-ringing if you wish to.

An open door is an invitation to something far more serious than a brassy neighbor. Use your head, Lady.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Gem-Wise
Jewelry fashions, facts, fictions

By J. A. LOCKE, JR.

Hardly a day goes by that someone doesn't ask me to explain how professional jewelers determine the value of diamonds. Possibly, some of you have heard of the "Four C's" — a trade term referring to the quality factors of Color, Clarity, Cutting and Carat Weight. It is these four elements that form the basis establishing the diamond's price per carat.

Most diamonds on the market today have some degree of natural yellowish body color. As this faintly yellow tinge deepens, value falls. The finest Color grade is a true absence of color. Blue-white is an abused term that is seldom used by ethical jewelers. While there are bluish and blue diamonds, such as the Hope Diamond, these stones are extremely rare museum pieces.

Clarity refers to the presence of minute inclusions, carbon spots, or other blemishes inside the stone. When none are visible under 10X magnification, the diamond may properly be termed "Flawless." Blemishes or cleavage "fractures" visible to the eye naturally reduce the value of the stone appreciably since the beauty of the diamond is diminished.

Cutting is the single most important element in judging diamond quality, since the intrinsic fire and brilliance that we so admire in the stone is lost through improper cutting. Every diamond must be cut according to exact mathematical proportions, with each angle correctly placed and polished. Carat Weight is of lesser importance than the other three factors, since a large stone of poor color and cut will have a lower price per carat than a smaller stone that is more nearly ideal in Color, Cutting and Clarity.

End To Racial Strife Not In Sight

Chester, Pa., Described As Birmingham Of North

By LEE LINDER

CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — For five months Negroes in this old industrial city have demonstrated in the streets, protesting that their children attend segregated and unequal schools.

Dozens have been hurt, many heads bloodied, hundreds more jailed.

The end is not in sight.

"Chester is the Birmingham of the North," says James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality.

"When they block the streets, when they are disorderly, when they riot instead of march, they are breaking the law," says Mayor James T. Gorbey, a 43-year-old lawyer who took office in the midst of the turmoil.

"The law is the same for everybody, and will be administered for everybody," he says.

Chester, chartered in 1701 by William Penn, is the oldest city in Pennsylvania. It has 63,000 residents, including 27,000 Negroes.

It is 15 miles south of Philadelphia, and a few miles north of the Mason-Dixon line.

Demonstrators in Chester also are demanding better jobs and more jobs, better housing and more housing. But it's the noisy, fist-swinging, rock-throwing battle to integrate all the schools—a civil rights issue that faces many other Northern cities—that has filled the jails.

Negroes say de facto segregation is segregation by design; that it means inferior, unequal education. They demand an immediate end to all-Negro schools—four of the 16 here.

The school board insists it operates an integrated system. It says any segregation is unintentional, and results because children of one race live in the same neighborhood and go to the same school.

Frances P. Donahoo, president of the school board, which has one Negro member, says, "To talk about de facto segregation is not to talk about segregation, but about a condition over which we have no control."

She insists that the Negro leadership really wants busing, which cannot be done without the consent of parents — and white parents are staunchly opposed.

Stanley Branche, 30-year-old chairman of the Committee for Freedom Now, says he isn't advocating busing, the transfer of pupils to create a racial balance in all schools.

"But we want the school board to do something and do it now," he adds.

What does he suggest?

"Nothing," Branche replies calmly. "The program must come from the board. We'll sit down with them. We'll talk with them. I met three times with them, but they won't budge. They just won't budge."

Charles Long, superintendent of schools, says, "We definitely are integrated. Every school in our system has Negro children."

"Token, token, token," shouts Branche. "What are 10 or 20 or 30 out of 500 or more. That's not equal."

Long acknowledges that four schools are all - Negro and a fifth has 10 whites among 1,000 pupils. The schools have 11,150 pupils, of whom 6,725 are Negro.

Philip Savage, tri-state secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, sometimes has worked with Branche, sometimes ignored him—and sometimes been ignored. He is considered more moderate but, like Branche, was arrested for demonstrating.

Savage looks favorably to efforts of the State Human Relations Commission, or the courts, to settle the dispute.

Johnson Pledges U.S. Aid In Tariff Talks

GENEVA (AP) — President Johnson pledged United States help to bring the Kennedy round of tariff negotiations "to a happy and fruitful conclusion."

Former Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, the President's chief trade negotiator, delivered Johnson's message to the formal opening session today of the Kennedy round.

The session marked the beginning of a marathon tariff cutting effort by the 75 members of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade — GATT — expected to continue for at least two years.

She did, without moving it.

Portage County Group Puts Signs At Old Lock

LISBON — About 100 member of the Portage County Nature Club made a tour of Lusk's Lock on the old Sandy & Beaver Canal near Elkton on Little Beaver Creek Sunday.

G. W. Weckerly, tour co-ordinator, erected signs at the entrance to the lock. The group also visited old Gaston's Mill in Beaver Creek State Forest Park.

The group was enthused over the park, according to Heber Lessig of Lisbon, who discussed the geology of the area. L. B. Cameron of Salem gave the history of the mill and Elmer Hiles, park manager, described the primitive camp sites in the park.

Johnson Sending Sen. Fulbright To Greece, Turkey

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is sending chairman J.W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to Greece and Turkey to demonstrate this government's concern with the Cyprus situation.

Fulbright long had planned a trip to Europe, but Athens and Ankara were not added to his itinerary until he called Sunday at the White House for a discussion with Johnson.

Afterward the White House announced that the President had asked Fulbright to "express to the Greek and Turkish governments the continuing interest and concern of both the President and Congress with the Disturbing situation on Cyprus."

The announcement said that the Arkansas Democrat will not carry any suggestion regarding the ultimate settlement of the Cyprus question because this "must await the proposals of the U.N. mediator."

Rather, the White House said, Fulbright "will convey the sense of urgency felt in the United States regarding the need for the restoration of order on the island, and will report to the President his impressions as to the views of the Greek and Turkish governments."

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Since bottom fitted sheets are so difficult to put on the bed, I buy all TOP FITTED sheets. These are fitted on ONE end only.

Put the first sheet on the bed with the "fitted" end at the top of the bed and the second sheets on the bed with the fitted end at the bottom of the bed. Naturally, the top sheet holds the bottom one nicely in place.

Also, these sheets may be interchanged thus making them last much longer in my estimation. And also the top sheet may be used as a bottom sheet if you are one who likes to partially change your beds twice weekly. This is quite a savings on laundry bills.

EMILY.

DEAR HELOISE: I buy clear (not opaque) adhesive-backed paper to cover my solid walnut coffee table before I have a party and non is the wiser. Saves lots of horrible water rings, etc.

This may be wiped off with a wet cloth and any time I want to change it I find that it peels off easily.

P.H.P.

DEAR HELOISE: For a quick hair set, I save spray bottles, wash them thoroughly and put stale beer in them. Then I spray my hair before setting it and after it is set, spray it once again.

The beer will dry quickly and hold very nicely. It also leaves a shine on my hair. I use rollers and it takes about one hour to dry.

MRS. C.B.

Many beauty operators write that when a permanent begins to lag or sag or just string . . . that if the hair is set with beer it will give it body.

I have tried this method on my own hair and it's so. But no beauty consultant, beauty stylist or hair consultant, so far as I know, have ever thought to put it in a spray bottle. Thanks to Mrs. C. B. for that idea.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: It is my opinion that the messiest and toughest job in the entire house is washing the kitchen walls and ceiling. Whether you are washing it just to get it clean or preparing for a paint job (and this is the one time it really should be done best) try our method:

Put some detergent in a bucket of hot water and add one fourth cup of sal soda.

Take your long handle sponge mop and tie or pin a small hand towel near the sponge to keep the water from dripping down your arm.

Now . . . dip your sponge in the solution, ring it out slightly, and wash the entire ceiling with long strokes this way.

The most important part of this procedure, to keep the ceiling from streaking, is to pour the solution out as soon as it becomes the slightest bit discolored and make a fresh batch of solution.

After the ceiling is washed, rinse the sponge mop thoroughly and wipe and rinse the entire ceiling.

The walls may be washed the same way. If the walls are very soiled, it is better to start washing from the bottom and work up to prevent streaks from running down them. However, either way is all right as far as I'm concerned.

DAVID DOGE.

You are exactly right, I checked, and this is recommended by many companies.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Does your little tot squirm and kick when you are trying to put on his shoes?

My solution is to place one or two small decals, which can be bought at any dime store, on the inner soles of my child's shoes and he looks at the picture inside one shoe while I am putting on the other! This keeps him amused and half the battle is won.

MRS. LYNNE DERRYBERRY.

Area Delegation Back From State Lodge Sessions

An area delegation has returned from Cleveland, where it attended unified sessions of the Odd Fellows, the Grand Lodge, the Rebekah Assembly, the Grand Encampment, the Department Council and the Department Association.

Attending from the East Liverpool lodges were: James T. Thomas, representative to the Grand Lodge; Lessie M. Thomas, representative of the Rebekah Assembly; T. C. Dover, representative of the Grand Encampment, Shirley Elkins, Rose Hales, Mary Lones and Richard Heidel.

The Wellsville Lodge was represented by Esther Taylor, Marie Headley and Goldie Hawksworth. Beulah Gardner represented the Salineville Lodge.

Mrs. Thomas was installed as chaplain of the department. Her aides include Shirley Elkins.

The sessions, launched April 26, closed Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas attended a banquet Thursday night at which Geraldine Sandrock, lady president, honored officers who served with her in the preceding year.

Clarksburg Festival Draws Oak Glen Band

The 125-member Oak Glen High School Band participated in a concert and parade at the Area Band Festival Saturday in Clarksburg.

Directed by Floyd Lansia, Oak Glen's band was one of 38 in the festival. No ratings were announced for Oak Glen.

Besides Lancia, other officials attending were J. Warren Campbell, junior high music director, and Mrs. Charlotte Logston, Hancock County school nurse. Lillie Crissinger and Cyril McCosko traveled with the students. Principal E. Russll Slack also made the trip by private car.

Patrol Seeks Car In Crash At Glenmoor

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon today was searching for an auto involved in a weekend hit-skip accident in which a year-old LaCroft child was injured slightly.

Officers said a car driven by Charles R. Hall, 22, of LaCroft was hit Saturday at 11:45 p. m. on Route 267 in Glenmoor.

Officers said the other car is believed to be either a 1953 or 1954 Chevrolet. It probably will be heavily damaged on the right rear side and possibly will have red or white paint on it from Hall's car.

Officers said anyone knowing of a car damaged in this manner should contact the post headquarters near Lisbon by calling 424-7767.

Two other area residents were investigated by the patrol over the weekend.

Hugh Lester Wilson III, 20, of Hammondsville R. D. 1 was cited for speed in excess of road conditions after a one-car crash Sunday at 1:10 a. m. on Route 39 almost two miles west of Wellsville.

Wilson lost control of his 1959 car on a curve, went off the left side of the highway and sheared off a telephone pole and two fence posts. The car was damaged heavily, officers said.

Two passengers, Douglas Warden, 18, and Scott Porter, 18, both of Irondale, also escaped injury.

Phillip M. Demoratz Jr., 28, of 840 Penn Ave., Midland, was cited for driving left of center after a two-car crash Saturday night at 9 on Route 45 almost a mile north of Wellsville. Demoratz went left of center on a curve and hit the left rear of an oncoming vehicle driven by Shirley Stewart, 19, of Alliance, officers said.

The patrol checked four other accidents over the weekend in the northern sections of the county.

Palestine Boy Injured When Bike Rams Auto

EAST PALESTINE — Gregory Meek, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Meek, 545 N. Market St., is in "fairly good" condition at Salem City Hospital with injuries suffered when his bicycle struck a parked auto on W. Grant St. Sunday afternoon.

The youth suffered a concussion in the mishap near the Kyes Receiving Home for Children at 4:30. He was taken to a physician in the firemen's emergency car, then removed to the hospital.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Since bottom fitted sheets are so difficult to put on the bed, I buy all TOP FITTED sheets. These are fitted on ONE end only.

Put the first sheet on the bed with the "fitted" end at the top of the bed and the second sheets on the bed with the fitted end at the bottom of the bed. Naturally, the top sheet holds the bottom one nicely in place.

Also, these sheets may be interchanged thus making them last much longer in my estimation. And also the top sheet may be used as a bottom sheet if you are one who likes to partially change your beds twice weekly. This is quite a savings on laundry bills.

EMILY.

DEAR HELOISE: I buy clear (not opaque) adhesive-backed paper to cover my solid walnut coffee table before I have a party and non is the wiser. Saves lots of horrible water rings, etc.

This may be wiped off with a wet cloth and any time I want to change it I find that it peels off easily.

P.H.P.

DEAR HELOISE: For a quick hair set, I save spray bottles, wash them thoroughly and put stale beer in them. Then I spray my hair before setting it and after it is set, spray it once again.

The beer will dry quickly and hold very nicely. It also leaves a shine on my hair. I use rollers and it takes about one hour to dry.

MRS. C.B.

Many beauty operators write that when a permanent begins to lag or sag or just string . . . that if the hair is set with beer it will give it body.

I have tried this method on my own hair and it's so. But no beauty consultant, beauty stylist or hair consultant, so far as I know, have ever thought to put it in a spray bottle. Thanks to Mrs. C. B. for that idea.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: It is my opinion that the messiest and toughest job in the entire house is washing the kitchen walls and ceiling. Whether you are washing it just to get it clean or preparing for a paint job (and this is the one time it really should be done best) try our method:

Put some detergent in a bucket of hot water and add one fourth cup of sal soda.

Take your long handle sponge mop and tie or pin a small hand towel near the sponge to keep the water from dripping down your arm.

Now . . . dip your sponge in the solution, ring it out slightly, and wash the entire ceiling with long strokes this way.

The most important part of this procedure, to keep the ceiling from streaking, is to pour the solution out as soon as it becomes the slightest bit discolored and make a fresh batch of solution.

After the ceiling is washed, rinse the sponge mop thoroughly and wipe and rinse the entire ceiling.

The walls may be washed the same way. If the walls are very soiled, it is better to start washing from the bottom and work up to prevent streaks from running down them. However, either way is all right as far as I'm concerned.

DAVID DOGE.

You are exactly right, I checked, and this is recommended by many companies.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Does your little tot squirm and kick when you are trying to put on his shoes?

My solution is to place one or two small decals, which can be bought at any dime store, on the inner soles of my child's shoes and he looks at the picture inside one shoe while I am putting on the other! This keeps him amused and half the battle is won.

MRS. LYNNE DERRYBERRY.

Patrol Seeks Car In Crash At Glenmoor

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon today was searching for an auto involved in a weekend hit-skip accident in which a year-old LaCroft child was injured slightly.

Officers said a car driven by Charles R. Hall, 22, of LaCroft was hit Saturday at 11:45 p. m. on Route 267 in Glenmoor.

Officers said the other car is believed to be either a 1953 or 1954 Chevrolet. It probably will be heavily damaged on the right rear side and possibly will have red or white paint on it from Hall's car.

Officers said anyone knowing of a car damaged in this manner should contact the post headquarters near Lisbon by calling 424-7767.

Two other area residents were investigated by the patrol over the weekend.

Hugh Lester Wilson III, 20, of Hammondsville R. D. 1 was cited for speed in excess of road conditions after a one-car crash Sunday at 1:10 a. m. on Route 39 almost two miles west of Wellsville.

Wilson lost control of his 1959 car on a curve, went off the left side of the highway and sheared off a telephone pole and two fence posts. The car was damaged heavily, officers said.

Two passengers, Douglas Warden, 18, and Scott Porter, 18, both of Irondale, also escaped injury.

Phillip M. Demoratz Jr., 28, of 840 Penn Ave., Midland, was cited for driving left of center after a two-car crash Saturday night at 9 on Route 45 almost a mile north of Wellsville. Demoratz went left of center on a curve and hit the left rear of an oncoming vehicle driven by Shirley Stewart, 19, of Alliance, officers said.

The patrol checked four other accidents over the weekend in the northern sections of the county.

Officers Arrest Pair In Quarrel On Driving Auto

Two Pennsylvania men who Wellsville police found crowded into the driver's seat of a moving car having an argument as to who was going to drive were to receive hearings today before Mayor William Daugherty.

Police said Rodney L. Coberly and Elmer A. Johnston, both of Aliquippa R. D. 2, were halted at the intersection of Route 45 and Wells Ave. near the floodwall early Saturday morning.

The two had traveled all the way from 13th St., arguing over who was going to control the vehicle, police said. Police said Coberly was about half in, half out of the open door on the drivers said.

At first he was charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol, but it was learned Sunday that Johnson was the one actually in physical control. The charge against Coberly then was reduced to intoxication.

Police said the argument started after the two came out of a tavern. Johnston got into the driver's seat first. Coberly apparently decided he wasn't in any condition to drive, jumped out and ran around the car, police said. He opened the door on the driver's side and crawled in as Johnston took off, police said.

Federal Tax Revenue Up $1.5 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

RISE: Government sources report that federal tax revenue rose $1.5 billion to $24 billion during the first three months of 1964 even though the tax cut took effect March 1.

The $24-billion increase surpassed predictions by government economists, partly because the new lower tax rates went into effect a month after the Feb. 1 date on which the forecasts were based.

STAMP: The Post Office Department plans to begin national sale of the John F. Kennedy memorial stamp on May 29—the 47th anniversary of the late president's birth.

VIET NAM: The State Department's top expert on the Far East says he thinks U.S.-advised South Vietnamese forces have halted a downward trend in their war against Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

"I would say that we certainly have arrested the downward trend that has been in effect, going back some time—and that it had leveled out," William P. Bundy said Sunday on ABC's radio-television program "Issues and Answers."

STROLL: President Johnson took newsmen on a 45-minute stroll around White House grounds Saturday, answering questions, greeting tourists and playing with his two beagles.

The President made five laps around the driveways on the south grounds. At one point he clapped his hands and the two beagles—Him and Her—dutifully appeared.

He lifted Her up by the head and body. Referring to the recent furore when he picked up Him and Her by the ears so they would stand and yelp, Johnson said that "when they yelp, it's a sign of pain, it's a sign of joy."

Efforts Pushed To Find Nursing Home Operator

CLEVELAND (AP) — State officials renewed their efforts today to locate Eugene H. Woods, a nursing home operator whose eviction for non-payment of rent at a senior citizens hotel here resulted in the displacement of some 70 elderly persons.

"We want to talk to him because we don't know if he was personally responsible for what happened," John McElroy, assistant to Gov. James A. Rhodes, said Sunday night in Columbus.

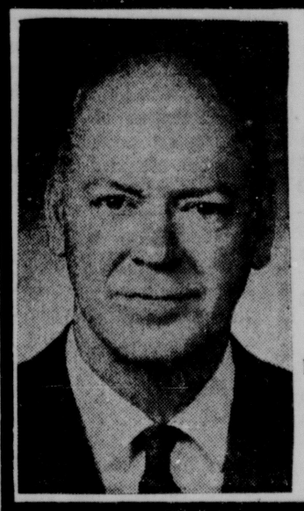

"He might have delegated authority to someone else and it might have been abused. We're going to follow this through though."

McElroy said state officials want to question Woods to determine whether he faces possible charges of operating a nursing home at Hotel Regent without a license.

Woods, 40, four years ago leased Hotel Regent as headquarters of Senior Citizens of America, Inc. He also runs several nursing homes in northeastern Ohio.

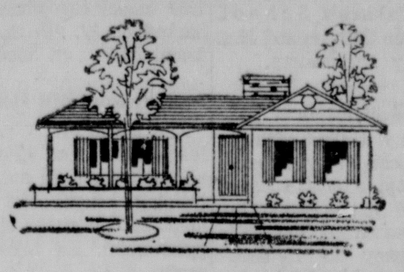

He was last seen Saturday at an Ashland motel where he was reported to have taken some of the elderly persons under his care at the Regent. Many of those in his care have turned up at other homes he runs.

State officials went to Ashland Saturday to talk to Woods but he already had left.

10-Day Term Suspended

Cited In Lack Of Permit, Driver Blames Illiteracy

An area man was given a suspended 10-day jail term and a strong warning from Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff after pleading guilty today to driving without an operator's permit.

Howard Leslie of R. D. 3, who told the court he cannot read nor write, was ordered to pay the costs and warned by the judge not to drive until he passes a driver's examination and receives a license.

"Because you cannot read the road signs, you are a menace on the highways," Judge Chertoff said.

Leslie was cited Wednesday by the State Highway Patrol in Glenmoor after being halted initially because his car had only one headlight.

Henry Lee Roach, 1937 Pennsylvania Ave. Ext., was fined a total of $20 plus costs of $22.50 on three charges.

Roach was fined $5 and costs each on charges of not having a light illuminating his license plate and operating a car without two headlights in working condition, and $10 and costs for parking on a sidewalk.

Roach was cited at 9:50 p. m. Saturday on Mulberry St. for parking on the sidewalk. The other charges followed after police said they noticed there was no license plate light while trailing him to City Hall. After arrival at the police station, a check showed only one headlight working, they added.

Five other motorists were fined and four more forfeited bonds.

Howard Kent, 222 W. 9th St., was fined $5 and costs for failing to have a light illuminating his rear license plate. He was cited Sunday at 11:22 p. m. on Dresden Ave.

Noah G. Hager of Chesapeake, W. Va., drew a similar fine after pleading guilty to driving the wrong direction on a one-way street. He was cited Friday at 11:29 p. m. after driving west on W. 6th St. between Jackson and Jefferson Sts.

Canada Freeman of Glenmoor also was fined $5 and costs after pleading guilty to crashing a traffic light at E. 5th and Washington Sts. Saturday night.

Barron Foster, 819 Wood St., Wellsville, was fined $10 and costs on a charge of speeding 50 in a 35-mile zone on W. 8th St. He was cited Friday at 10:19 p.m.

Joseph E. Stanley, 1200 Harker Ave., was fined $5 and costs for making an illegal turn at E. 5th and Washington Sts. on Friday night.

Forfeiting $17.50 bonds for making the same illegal turn Friday night were Richard J. Johnston of Charles St., Chester, and Roman Sainz of Evansville, Ind.

Hearings for two more motorists accused of making the illegal turn are scheduled later.

Jerry Vincent Gerace, 851 Ohio Ave., is due for a hearing Friday after being cited Sunday at 8:10 p. m.

Theodore A. Loveland, 1753 Maple Ave., Wellsville, is to appear next Monday. He was cited Friday at 5:13 p. m.

Kenneth J. Yost, 460 Mulberry St., forfeited $32.50 on a charge of speeding 70 in a 50-mile zone on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." Friday night.

Paul Raymond Radway of Lansing, Mich., forfeited the same amount for speeding 70 in a 50-mile zone on Route 7 Friday night. He was cited by the Highway Patrol.

No Arrests Reported As New Sunday Law Goes Into Effect

By The Associated Press

No arrests were reported Sunday as the state's new and tougher Sunday-closing law became effective throughout West Virginia.

Open for business as usual was the Heck's discount chain with stores in Charleston, St. Albans, Huntington and Parkersburg.

The Pagoda Shopping Center at Beckley also served customers. However, two discount firms in Wheeling -- Value City and Big Wheel — were closed.

Kanawha County Deputy Sheriff Lester Groves said violations of the law were observed in the Charleston area and a report will be made to the prosecuting attorney's office.

The so-called "blue law" was passed by the 1964 Legislature.

Opponents of the act say it was specifically designed for discount stores.

Among other things, the law prescribes what may be sold on Sunday and set penalties for violation.

The penalty for a first conviction ranges from $25 to $100. The old law provided for a $15 fine for a first offense.

Grocery stores, restaurants, taverns and bowling alleys are among establishments permitted to operate under the law.

At least five counties — Kanawha, Wood, Raleigh, Cabell, and Fayette — already have placed the Sunday-closing issue on the ballot for the May 12 primary.

The act provides that individual counties can vote to nullify the law if 10 per cent of the eligible voters sign petitions calling for a local option election.

Student's Coat Taken In Locker At School

Thursday was "Dress - up Day" for East Liverpool High School students, but it didn't turn out too well for one girl.

Kenneth Seibert, 701 Bradshaw Ave., reported to police Friday that a beige three-quarter length coat of his daughter, Amy Lynn, was stolen. It was valued at $50, he said.

The coat had been placed in his daughter's locker but when she returned at dismissal the locker was open and the coat missing.

Police Probe Lorain Death

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—An investigation continued today in the beating death of 34-year-old Eugene J. Sapolski who, police say, apparently was attacked by someone whom he saw tampering with his car.

Mrs. Betty Sapolski, wife of the victim, discovered her husband's body in the back yard early Sunday shortly after he went out of their south Lorain home to see why his car hood was up.

Coroner Paul J. Kopsch said the unknown attacker used something with a "blunt edge" which was "almost like that on a saber."

An autopsy showed Sapolski was struck five times on the head. No weapon was found and there were few leads in the case, police said.

Authorities also theorized that Sapolski apparently knew his assailant because there was no evidence of a struggle outside the house.

Kopsch said a lack of bruises on Sapolski's hands indicated he had no chance to ward off the blows. Sapolski would not have been able to move by himself after the first blow, the coroner explained.

Mrs. Sapolski told the police her husband went into the kitchen to make coffee when he looked out the window and saw his car hood was up. She said she was watching television and did not hear anything after he left.

Neighbors told her they saw an old-model car speed off about the time Sapolski went outside, she said.

The couple had been married only five months. Sapolski was a riveter in a body assembly shop.

Stark Officials Hunt For Cause Of Boy's Death

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP) — Stark County authorities sought today to determine what caused the death of a 15-year-old boy whose skeletal remains were found in an isolated woods west of Ohio 241 in Jackson Township. Sheriff's deputies said an 18-inch piece of rope was found near the neck of the skeleton.

The bones were found Saturday night by a youth hunting mushrooms. They were identified Sunday night from the teeth as belonging to Thomas John Sumerix, 15, who was reported missing last June 5 from his home in Akron.

The spot where the remains were found is about 13 miles due south of Akron.

Sheriff W. J. Hine said he and Summit County Sheriff Robert D. Campbell were trying to trace the boy's movements prior to his death.

A deputy said the rope was not knotted and did not resemble a noose. Part of the rope, however, might have disintegrated, he said.

Sumerix, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sumerix, last was reported seen at the Arlington Plaza Shopping Center in Akron, where he bought a pair of shoes.

He is one of three Akron-area teen-agers who disappeared in a 10-day period, but police said the disappearances did not appear to be connected.

U.S. Hints Soviet Pulled Cuba Rockets

WASHINGTON (AP)—The belief is current here that the Soviet Union may have pulled its ground-to-air rockets from Cuba, depriving Fidel Castro of the means to blast American planes from the skies over his island.

If true, there is less likelihood that the fiery dispute over surveillance flights will erupt in a clash of arms. A Soviet rocket withdrawal would go a long way toward explaining the Red prime minister's May Day assertion that Cuba is alone in her dispute with the United States.

Castro has conceded that his armed forces cannot shoot down the high-flying American planes without the Soviet rockets. Thus, when he said on May Day that "we will prevent these flights to the limits of what our weapons can do," he may have—in a veiled way—been revealing a new weapons limitation.

The Soviet rockets are a remnant of the 1962 arms and manpower buildup which reached crisis proportions when detected by U.S. intelligence. Soon after a showdown that October, the Russians pulled out their intermediate range ballistic missiles and began reducing their armed forces.

Two weeks ago, authorities here reported about 3,000 Russians remained on the island, but that they would soon be withdrawn, leaving in Cuban hands 24 antiaircraft missile bases equipped with Soviet rockets. Now the word is that the missiles have been removed along with some troops, but that a large proportion of the military force remains.

Last week Washington reminded Cuba that reconnaissance flights would be continued. Castro, in turn, said the Cuban people no longer would tolerate them and Soviet Premier Khrushchev charged the flights threatened "the abyss of another war."

Woman Admits She Chopped Up Husband's Body

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—A 27-year-old woman admitted to police Sunday she chopped her husband's body in half, burned the lower part and dumped the upper torso in a creek.

Mrs. Susan Jean Williams, 27, told police she stabbed her 53-year-old husband, Roosevelt Williams, repeatedly in the neck and face following an argument Friday night in their New Miami home.

The upper half of Williams' body—minus both arms — was found Sunday by four boys fishing in Seven Mile Creek in New Miami.

Police said some remains and bones of the lower half were found later in a furnace in the basement of the Williams home.

Mrs. Williams said she stabbed him with a butcher knife as he lay on a living room couch. She also said she threw boiling water on him after he had slapped her.

The body was then dragged and rolled down basement stairs, police said. Mrs. Williams said she stuffed the lower half and two arms into the furnace, and deposited the parts that didn't burn in a garbage can.

Mrs. Williams said she wrapped the top half in a gray overcoat and drove to Seven Mile Creek where she dumped it under a bridge.

She was charged with first degree murder. Police said she was released recently from a mental hospital in Cincinnati.

Family Needs Vacation Retreat

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

This is the time of year when women suffer from vacation house blues.

Why not invest in a vacation retreat instead of paying big rental fees for the kind of place they enjoy, they ask the man of the house.

The trouble is women have champagne tastes and beer pocketbooks, say builders.

Whereas the house, they've rented might cost ten times what they can afford to buy, they expect to find the same thing complete with pond, rose arbor, guest house, acres of lawn and perhaps an ocean view, all within their tiny budgets.

THERE ARE lots of wonderful buys in vacation houses. But what benefit is it just to find a bargain, if it isn't what you want? A fabulous little place in the woods with a rushing trout stream in the back yard is fine for someone who likes to fish, but not for someone who prefers the ocean and sunshine.

Nor does it pay to buy a house just for comforts and appearance. Paradoxically, that's what many vacation house seekers do. The result is they talk about the cool mountains all the time they are at the hot lake.

The family that decides they must forfeit a house in the area they want because it doesn't have three bathrooms that are necessary to comfort is off on the wrong track.

They should first consider their vacation house from the standpoint of interests — recreation or otherwise. Seashore types may not be happy at the mountains and vice versa. You can't please the skin divers in the family if your bury the family in a thicket on vacation. Some thought must be given to adolescents who need the company of their contemporaries.

If your idea is to choose a spot where you can entertain business friends or relatives on weekends, it should be fairly accessible. If train, ferry or other transportation is limited, you'll be mighty lonely.

A VACATION retreat planned with children in mind requires another type of thinking. Will they be underfoot all day, bored to tears, hot and sticky all the time?

Or will they be able to entertain themselves and keep cool? Some vacations can be nothing but work for mothers.

When the family decides why they want a particular vacation resort, what is expected of it in the way of fun, and the general location, thought should be given to the budget.

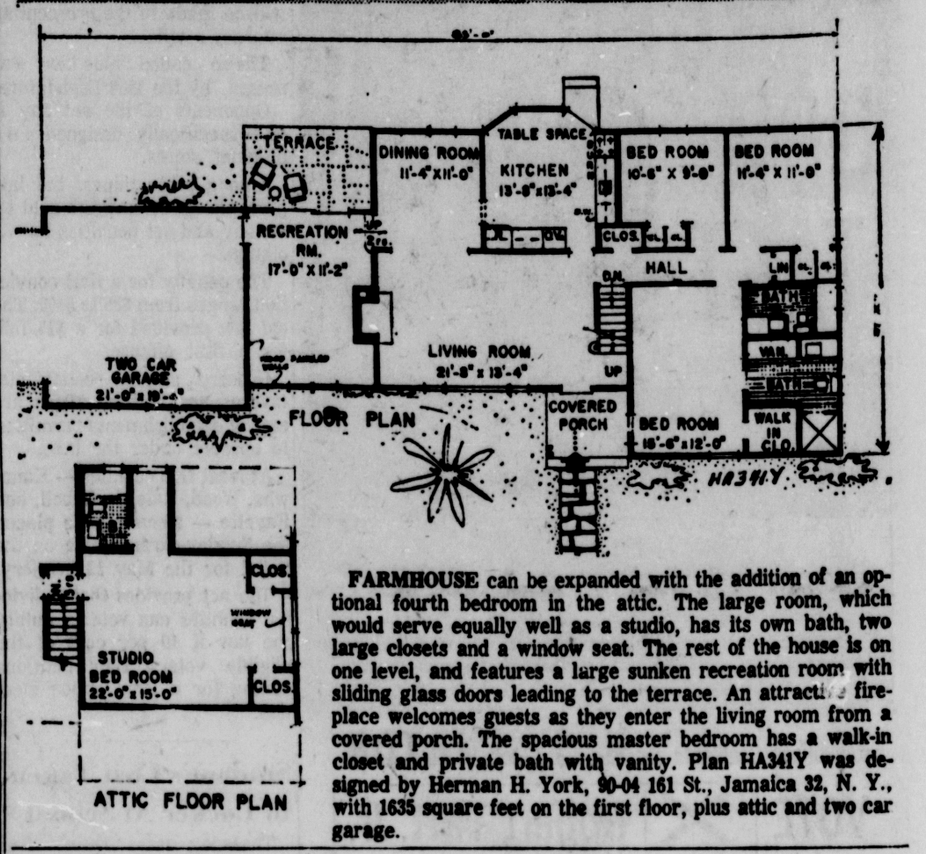

You may strike it rich and find the place that has everything within your budget. You could find that you cannot afford the retreat you'd like. In that case, look for the same vacation interests in a less elegant spot.

It may be entirely tolerable given a chance. At least it can keep you interested because of the recreation advantages.

One way to give it a chance is to rent there one season while you size it up, and observe the family reaction.

FARMHOUSE can be expanded with the addition of an optional fourth bedroom in the attic. The large room, which would serve equally well as a studio, has its own bath, two large closets and a window seat. The rest of the house is on one level, and features a large sunken recreation room with sliding glass doors leading to the terrace. An attractive fireplace welcomes guests as they enter the living room from a covered porch. The spacious master bedroom has a walk-in closet and private bath with vanity. Painting Renews Natural Woods In Old Furniture

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

If you have any idea of throwing away or giving away old pieces of furniture because they are natural wood color, or chipped and scratched, or have torn or worn upholstered seats, it would be well to reconsider.

Chairs, tables, dining - room cupboards, chests and bedroom suites were displayed in antique paint effects ranging from light blue and green to russet red and the traditional ivory gold.

Anyone capable of using a paint brush can convert existing pieces of furniture into smart, decorative items. Instead of the enamel usually suggested for furniture, use an alkyd flat wall paint for both main color and the antique effect.

A flat varnish should be used for a protective final coat. Naturally, the surface to be painted should be cleaned and sanded and if the article has a satin finish, a coat of shellac must be applied to prevent it from bleeding through into the new finish. For a particularly smart effect, highlight carvings and raised areas with gold paint.

Never let reupholstering stump you. If you remove the worn seat or back of a chair carefully and spread it out, you will have a perfect pattern from which to cut the new material. If a seat needs rewebbing, cut pieces of new webbing the same length as the old strips and follow the method used previously in tacking them in place.

Refinishing furniture in painted style is a very rewarding hobby and pays large dividends in the improved appearance of your home.

No Summer Theater

Texan, 68, To Ride Bike To World's Fair

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Paul R. Kepner, 68, is going to the world's Fair — on his bike.

By sunup Tuesday he plans to be on his way. If Kepner doesn't beat his schedule, he'll complete the trip June 6. That's an average of 100 miles a day, the former college professor said.

Kepner said he's riding his bike to the fair because he likes exercise.

THE TRUTH ABOUT BUYING A FURNACE

who is kidding whom about these low, low prices?

Q. How can some dealers offer to sell heating systems at prices below the actual cost of producing a quality furnace in a modern plant?

A. ONE OF THREE WAYS:

No. 1—By using cheap, inferior components that are made to meet a price, rather than serve the homeowners needs.

No. 2—By "bumping" the customer to a much higher priced system with a high pressure sales talk. This is a version of the old shell game.

No. 3—By skimping dangerously in installation procedures, and service after the sale.

GOOD PRACTICES TO FOLLOW IN BUYING HEATING

Look around for a dealer with a good reputation. Refuse to deal with anybody else, no matter how tempting the deal may sound. Invest in a heating system with a brand-name furnace backed by years of honest service to the public.

Waste Can Be Reduced

Planning Cuts Provides Thrifty Use Of Plywoods

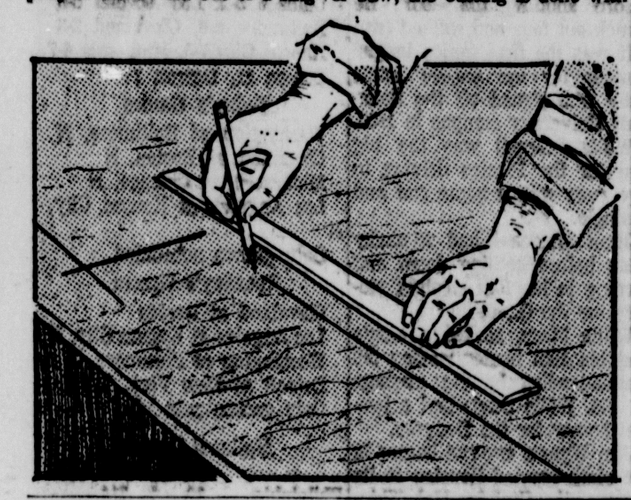

The physical structure of plywood makes it an especially desirable material for projects which require large, unbroken surfaces.

Plywood sheets measuring 4 feet by 8 feet are standard in all lumber yards. Many dealers carry panels in smaller sizes and some will make cuts to exact specifications.

When you are purchasing a 4 by 8 sheet and doing your own cutting—which is the most economical method—spend a little extra time in laying out the work. You will discover very often that all the pieces for your project can be cut out of a single panel provided you plan the cuts properly. In all woodworking, there is a certain amount of waste.

But this waste can be kept to a minimum if you do not make the cuts in a catch-as-catch-can fashion. As any experienced carpenter will tell you, "measure twice and cut once." And don't forget to allow space for saw kerfs between adjacent pieces.

In doing the cutting, keep the good side of the plywood facing up if you are using a handsaw, a table saw or a radial saw. If you are using a portable power saw, the cutting is done with the good side face down. This advice is designed to prevent the best side of the plywood from splintering as the saw goes through it.

But a little splintering may occur with a handsaw until you get the knack of working with plywood. Until that time, the splintering can be reduced by placing a piece of scrap lumber under the scribed line and sawing both together.

Remember that plywood which will be used outdoors should be the exterior type. It is made with a special adhesive that holds the plys together in all kinds of weather. Plywood can be purchased either in softwoods or hardwoods. The softwoods include fir, pine, redwood and cedar.

The hardwoods include birch, maple, oak, cherry, walnut, mahogany and beech. You will find that not all dealers carry all kinds, but if you want a special wood which your dealer does not have in stock, he should be able to get it for you fairly quickly.

The big seller is fir plywood, because it is the most plentiful and the cheapest. It has a wild grain that is a little tricky to finish, but which can be conquered by using one of the special sealers made especially for this type of wood.

The first full-scale clashes between jet aircraft in warfare was in 1950-53, during the Korean War, when hundreds of Air Force F-86 Sabre jets and Russian MIGs fought aerial battles over North Korea.

Wall Strips Held By Anchor Nails Put In Concrete

QUESTION: About ten years ago I saw a finished basement room built by the home owner. I recall being told that no cut nails or other fasteners were used to attach the furring strips to the concrete walls. I no longer live in the same city where I saw that room, but now I'd like to construct a finished room in our basement, which has a poured concrete foundation. Can you tell me how that previous job might have been done?

ANSWER: It is quite likely that the furring strips were attached with what are called anchor nails. These are small squares of perforated metal. A nail is welded to the center of each square.

A special adhesive, bought with the anchor nails, is spread on the back of each square. The metal is then pressed against the wall, using a slight twisting motion. This twisting motion pushes some of the adhesive through the perforations, insuring a strong bond.

These squares are placed on the concrete wall where you want a furring strip to be. After the adhesive has thoroughly set, a furring strip is held against the protruding nails and tapped lightly with a hammer. The resulting small indentations are used as centers for holes to be drilled through the furring strip. The strip is then placed over the anchor nails, which are clinched in place. It isn't as much work as it seems, especially in contrast to the tough job of anchoring furring strips to poured concrete by means of drilling holes in the wall.

Steel Helped By Car Trend

CLEVELAND (AP) — If advance buying for 1964 model runs by the automakers continues, this month will see a first-half peak in steel production and shipments, Steel magazine said today.

"Other big customers will continue buying at a brisk rate," the weekly journal of metalworking said.

"Ingot output will exceed April's 10.5 million tons by 2 or 3 per cent and be the largest since May, 1963, Steel said. "This week's production will probably equal the 2.45 million tons steel estimated was made last week."

"Shipments will top April's estimated 7.2 million tons by a small margin and be the largest since last June's," the magazine predicted.

Steel imports were 909,795 tons in the first two months of 1962. But last year's record 5.45 million tons won't be equaled, Steel said, because:

European mills have hiked prices on flat rolled products, thus little, or no savings can be made by U.S. buyers.

Steel's price composite on No. 1 heavy melting steel rose 33 cents a ton to $31.66 last week, the magazine said.

Attempt To Integrate Memphis Church Fails

MEMPHIS (AP)—A Presbyterian minister joined a group of white and Negro students in an unsuccessful attempt to integrate Second Presbyterian Church Sunday.

Dr. Carl Prichett of Bethesda, Md., and a small group of college students left quietly after reading a statement and being turned back by ushers.

Tribe Rookie Hurls 3-0 Shutout

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

What hath Charles Finley wrought?

When the incendiary owner of the Kansas City Athletics declared war on the American League, even he couldn't have envisioned the devastating effect his strategy would have on Kansas City's Municipal Stadium.

Twelve homers were hit Sunday as the Athletics swept a double-header from Minnesota 7-4 and 8-7. That output increased to 24 the number of homers hit in the four-game series between the teams.

The Twins connected for seven Sunday and 15 altogether while Kansas City pounded out five in the doubleheader and nine in the series.

The Review Sports

MONDAY, MAY 4, 1964 EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW PAGE 20

Home runs are being hit at Municipal Stadium at more than twice the rate they were hit last season.

Of course, Finley's tactics have helped. He acquired home run sluggers Rocky Colavito and Jim Gentile during the winter and more recently constructed his Pennant Porch and shortened the fences generally.

Colavito leads the league with six home runs while Gentile is tied for second with five. The closer fences have resulted in eight homers—six by the A's.

Finley may not win the war or the pennant, but he may beat the stadium into submission.

Elsewhere in the American League, there were three doubleheader splits. New York blanked Washington 4-0, then lost 6-5; Baltimore stopped Cleveland 5-2, then was shut out 3-0 and Chicago nipped Los Angeles 3-2, then dropped a 6-2 decision. Boston whipped Detroit 11-7 in the only single game.

Despite the home run attack, it took four walks in the ninth inning to win the nightcap for the Athletics. The Twins' Bill Pleis issued all of the passes, the last to George Alusik which forced in Nelson Mathews with the winning run.

Carl Yastrzemski joined the long ball parade with a grand slam homer that climaxed a run rally in the fifth inning and powered Boston past Detroit.

Dave Nicholson's three-run homer gave the White Sox their fifth straight triumph in the first game, but sterling relief pitching by Dean Chance helped the Angels halt the streak in the second.

Giants Gain 6-3 Win Over Dodgers

Shove over Warren Spahn. You may not be the Milwaukee Braves' only pitcher after all.

Perched in third place in the National League standings, Manager Bobby Bragan's club today can look back on three complete game pitching victories in the last four starts.

Sunday's 1-0 two-hit masterpiece by Hank Fischer against the Phillies followed Bob Sadowski's five-hitter against Philadelphia and Tony Cloninger's one-hitter against the Pirates.

Fischer, sprung from the bullpen, turned in his third straight route-going performance, retiring the last 16 batters he faced. The 24-year-old right-hander also produced the only run of the game in the second inning.

The shutout lowered Fischer's ERA to a flashy 1.93, best on the Braves' staff. "His best pitch was control," said catcher Ed Bailey. "He was hitting his spots and he made my job easy."

Elsewhere in the National League, Pittsburgh came from behind to whip St. Louis 12-8; San Francisco topped Los Angeles 6-3; Houston beat Chicago 5-3 and Cincinnati swept a doubleheader from the New York Mets 6-5 and 6-3.

Fischer surrendered singles to Tony Gonzales in the second and John Herrnstein in the fourth before shutting the door. He struck out four and walked two.

It was the first major league shutout for the $50,000 bonus baby who signed off the Seton Hall University campus in 1959.

Willie Stargell was the big gun for the Pirates driving in five runs with a home run and a single.

Juan Marichal had a shaky start before settling down and turning in his 10th straight victory for the Giants.

Willie Mays, socked a single and his 10th homer raising his league-leading batting average to .459. Willie Davis had a two-run homer for the Dodgers.

Jim Wynn's two-run homer in the sixth carried Houston to its victory, the first for Hal (Skinny) Brown after two losses. Jim Beauchamp also homered for for the Colts.

The Reds came from behind in both ends of their double victory over the Mets.

Dancer Leads Derby Field To Preakness

Luro Gives Full Credit To Hartack

By KELSO STURGEON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Kentucky Derby winner Northern Dancer is heading for Baltimore and the May 16 running of the Preakness, second leg on racing's Triple Crown, but trainer Horatio Luro has a ho-hum attitude about it all.

"It doesn't mean much to win the Triple Crown anymore," the Argentine said today. "When these three were the only races, it was different, but now there are dozens of big races for 3-year-olds."

The fact, remains, however, that the sweep of the Derby, Preakness and Belmont stakes hasn't been accomplished since Citation in 1948 and is generally considered the biggest prize in thoroughbred racing.

Northern Dancer, of course, off his narrow triumph over the favored Hill Rise in Saturday's 90th running of the Derby, America's most prestigious race, is the only eligible. The short-striding little colt is the first Canadian-bred ever to win the Derby.

Luro, incidentally, gives full credit to jockey Bill Hartack's ability to get the most out of The Dancer's talents as the difference in the neck victory, completed in Derby and track record time.

"The horse is 75 per cent and the jockey 25 per cent," Luro said. "If they both give their best, you win most of the time.

Willie Shoemaker, who rode Hill Rise, offered no excuse for his horse, who was trying to catch the winner in the final sixteenth of a mile. Early in April, Shoemaker decided not to ride Northern Dancer in the Derby, saying he thought Hill Rise was a much better horse.

"Shoemaker rode a perfect race too," Luro said. "But somebody has to run second."

Northern Dancer finished in two minutes flat—two-fifths of a second better than the record set two years ago by El Peco's Decidedly, also trained by Luro and ridden by Hartack.

Northern Dancer, who took the lead in the $156,800 Derby as the field of 12 made the stretch turn, covered the last quarter of a mile in 24 seconds, tying a record set in 1941 by Whirlaway.

Following the top three, in order, were Roman Brother, Quadrangle, Mr. Brick and Mr. Moonlight. They will head for New York within a day or so and await decisions by their trainers on entering the 1 3-16 mile Preakness.

The victory was Hartack's fourth in the Derby—something almost unbelieveable when one considers that he's only had six mounts in the classic and none has been favored.

Northern Dancer's victory, his sixth straight, was worth $114,300 to owner E. P. Taylor of Toronto and gave the son of Nearctic-Natalma a record of 13 victories, two seconds and one third in 16 starts.

About 40 minutes before Northern Dancer's victory, the 1963 Kentucky Derby winner, Chateaugay, disappointed at Aqueduct in his first start as a 4-year-old.

Chateaugay finished eighth in a field of 11 in the seven-furlong $57,700 Carter Handicap won by Ahoy, under top weight of 133 pounds.

Golfer Marlene Bauer Hagge was three years old when she swung her first golf club.

Players Receive Wrist Watches

200 Attend Testimonial Banquet Honoring Midland High Cage Team

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Midland took its hat off to its high school basketball team Sunday night when over 200 attended a community banquet honoring the 1963-64 squad at the USW Hall.

The testimonial dinner, sponsored by the Leopard Boosters Club in cooperation with other Midland organizations, paid tribute to a team and coaching staff that compiled a 24-1 record and only was beaten last season by state champion Uniontown.

Twelve players and two managers were presented wrist watches by John B. Mueller, chairman of the dinner.

Two special awards of war bonds were presented to Bruce Humbert and Jim Harty for the athlete achieving the highest scholastic mark. Harty received the award for last year while Humbert was a member of the Leopard basketball squad this season. The awards were presented by Mayor Eli Corak.

There was no guest speaker, but coaches of teams which Midland played this season, were present to pay tribute to Hank Kuzma and his team.

Each opposing coach spoke briefly headed by veterans Neenie Campbell of McKeesport and Nate Lippe of Hopewell. Others introduced included Bill Edwards of New Brighton, Ben Martin of Shaler High, George Hrmoick of Western Beaver, George Milby of Martins Ferry and Connie Palumbo of New Castle.

OTHER guests included Ed Cilli, president of the board of Education, Joe Cochran, Midland's newly appointed football coach and Principal William Walters.

Kuzma spoke briefly and thanked everyone who had helped make this season a success. He was presented a cash gift from the Leopard Boosters Club.

John Wilson gave the introduction and asked a moment of silent prayer for the late Dr. Ralph Jewell, Supt. of Schools who died in March.

ELHS Nine Splits In Two At Warren

The East Liverpool Potters split in a doubleheader at Warren Saturday winning the nightcap, 2-1 after dropping the opener, 10-5.

Coach Jim Potts had a sophomore studded lineup in the second game and the youngsters came up with the winning run in the seventh inning to nip Warren. The loss was only the second in 10 games for Warren.

Warren scored a run in the third inning but the Potters tied it in the fourth. In the seventh inning, Len Walker, the winning pitcher, singled and with two out Joe Massey walked moving Walker to second. Bob Burkhart hit a sharp grounder to the third baseman who couldn't handle it and it went for an error allowing Walker to streak home with the winning run.

Walker scattered nine hits and gave up three walks. He fanned six. The Potters took advantage of five Warren errors while only committing one themselves.

Walker, a righthanded sophomore, was tough when he had to be pitching out of trouble with the bases loaded on two occasions.

Sophomore Ed Golden, starting his first game in centerfield, made a diving catch of a short line drive which saved the game in the seventh inning. Warren had a runner on second and if Golden hadn't caught the ball, Warren would have tied the game.

The Potters were guilty of seven errors in the first game which led to eight unearned runs.

The Potters collected five hits and scored all their runs in the sixth inning. Joe Massey's tremendous double with the bases loaded drove in three runs.

East Liverpool was scheduled to meet Midland today at Colt Field.

Nicklaus 2 Shots Better At Vegas

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Golf star Jack Nicklaus is no sheik but he must love the desert.

Nicklaus, heading today with his fellow pros to the $75,000 Colonial Invitational at Fort Worth, has extracted $38,000 in one year from Las Vegas tournaments.

He scored his second straight victory Sunday in the $65,000 Tournament of Champions. It was worth $12,000. His 1963 triumph brought $13,000, and last fall his first place in the Sahara Invitational earned $13,000.

Nicklaus' victory Sunday was no walk in as it was a year ago.

"The way I finished, some one else should have won the tournament," said Jack. He referred to his last round 73 for a 72-hole score of 279, which was six more shots than he required in the 1963 event.

Nicklaus closed out the affair in romantic fashion, however. Needing only a par 4 on the 18th green to win, he sank a 42-foot putt for a birdie and a winning margin of two strokes.

Tied for second were Al Geiberger, who could well have won the tourney, and Doug Sanders. Each got $6,000.

U.S. Open Champion Julius Boros, Chi Chi Rodriguez, Tommy Jacobs, Don Fairfield and Paul Harney tied at 282, and Arnold Palmer, with pairs of 72s and 70s, finished with 284.

Nicklaus started out three strokes in front of the field. At one point he was five shots ahead.

Tribe Rookie Hurls 3-0 Shutout

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

What hath Charles Finley wrought?

When the incendiary owner of the Kansas City Athletics declared war on the American League, even he couldn't have envisioned the devastating effect his strategy would have on Kansas City's Municipal Stadium.

Twelve homers were hit Sunday as the Athletics swept a double-header from Minnesota 7-4 and 8-7. That output increased to 24 the number of homers hit in the four-game series between the teams.

The Twins connected for seven Sunday and 15 altogether while Kansas City pounded out five in the doubleheader and nine in the series.

The Review Sports

MONDAY, MAY 4, 1964 EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW PAGE 20

Home runs are being hit at Municipal Stadium at more than twice the rate they were hit last season.

Of course, Finley's tactics have helped. He acquired home run sluggers Rocky Colavito and Jim Gentile during the winter and more recently constructed his Pennant Porch and shortened the fences generally.

Colavito leads the league with six home runs while Gentile is tied for second with five. The closer fences have resulted in eight homers—six by the A's.

Finley may not win the war or the pennant, but he may beat the stadium into submission.

Elsewhere in the American League, there were three doubleheader splits. New York blanked Washington 4-0, then lost 6-5; Baltimore stopped Cleveland 5-2, then was shut out 3-0 and Chicago nipped Los Angeles 3-2, then dropped a 6-2 decision. Boston whipped Detroit 11-7 in the only single game.

Despite the home run attack, it took four walks in the ninth inning to win the nightcap for the Athletics. The Twins' Bill Pleis issued all of the passes, the last to George Alusik which forced in Nelson Mathews with the winning run.

Carl Yastrzemski joined the long ball parade with a grand slam homer that climaxed a run rally in the fifth inning and powered Boston past Detroit.

Dave Nicholson's three-run homer gave the White Sox their fifth straight triumph in the first game, but sterling relief pitching by Dean Chance helped the Angels halt the streak in the second.

Giants Gain 6-3 Win Over Dodgers

Shove over Warren Spahn. You may not be the Milwaukee Braves' only pitcher after all.

Perched in third place in the National League standings, Manager Bobby Bragan's club today can look back on three complete game pitching victories in the last four starts.

Sunday's 1-0 two-hit masterpiece by Hank Fischer against the Phillies followed Bob Sadowski's five-hitter against Philadelphia and Tony Cloninger's one-hitter against the Pirates.

Fischer, sprung from the bullpen, turned in his third straight route-going performance, retiring the last 16 batters he faced. The 24-year-old right-hander also produced the only run of the game in the second inning.

The shutout lowered Fischer's ERA to a flashy 1.93, best on the Braves' staff. "His best pitch was control," said catcher Ed Bailey. "He was hitting his spots and he made my job easy."

Elsewhere in the National League, Pittsburgh came from behind to whip St. Louis 12-8; San Francisco topped Los Angeles 6-3; Houston beat Chicago 5-3 and Cincinnati swept a doubleheader from the New York Mets 6-5 and 6-3.

Fischer surrendered singles to Tony Gonzales in the second and John Herrnstein in the fourth before shutting the door. He struck out four and walked two.

It was the first major league shutout for the $50,000 bonus baby who signed off the Seton Hall University campus in 1959.

Willie Stargell was the big gun for the Pirates driving in five runs with a home run and a single.

Juan Marichal had a shaky start before settling down and turning in his 10th straight victory for the Giants.

Willie Mays, socked a single and his 10th homer raising his league-leading batting average to .459. Willie Davis had a two-run homer for the Dodgers.

Jim Wynn's two-run homer in the sixth carried Houston to its victory, the first for Hal (Skinny) Brown after two losses. Jim Beauchamp also homered for for the Colts.

The Reds came from behind in both ends of their double victory over the Mets.

Dancer Leads Derby Field To Preakness

Luro Gives Full Credit To Hartack

By KELSO STURGEON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Kentucky Derby winner Northern Dancer is heading for Baltimore and the May 16 running of the Preakness, second leg on racing's Triple Crown, but trainer Horatio Luro has a ho-hum attitude about it all.

"It doesn't mean much to win the Triple Crown anymore," the Argentine said today. "When these three were the only races, it was different, but now there are dozens of big races for 3-year-olds."

The fact, remains, however, that the sweep of the Derby, Preakness and Belmont stakes hasn't been accomplished since Citation in 1948 and is generally considered the biggest prize in thoroughbred racing.

Northern Dancer, of course, off his narrow triumph over the favored Hill Rise in Saturday's 90th running of the Derby, America's most prestigious race, is the only eligible. The short-striding little colt is the first Canadian-bred ever to win the Derby.

Luro, incidentally, gives full credit to jockey Bill Hartack's ability to get the most out of The Dancer's talents as the difference in the neck victory, completed in Derby and track record time.

"The horse is 75 per cent and the jockey 25 per cent," Luro said. "If they both give their best, you win most of the time.

Willie Shoemaker, who rode Hill Rise, offered no excuse for his horse, who was trying to catch the winner in the final sixteenth of a mile. Early in April, Shoemaker decided not to ride Northern Dancer in the Derby, saying he thought Hill Rise was a much better horse.

"Shoemaker rode a perfect race too," Luro said. "But somebody has to run second."

Northern Dancer finished in two minutes flat—two-fifths of a second better than the record set two years ago by El Peco's Decidedly, also trained by Luro and ridden by Hartack.

Northern Dancer, who took the lead in the $156,800 Derby as the field of 12 made the stretch turn, covered the last quarter of a mile in 24 seconds, tying a record set in 1941 by Whirlaway.

Following the top three, in order, were Roman Brother, Quadrangle, Mr. Brick and Mr. Moonlight. They will head for New York within a day or so and await decisions by their trainers on entering the 1 3-16 mile Preakness.

The victory was Hartack's fourth in the Derby—something almost unbelieveable when one considers that he's only had six mounts in the classic and none has been favored.

Northern Dancer's victory, his sixth straight, was worth $114,300 to owner E. P. Taylor of Toronto and gave the son of Nearctic-Natalma a record of 13 victories, two seconds and one third in 16 starts.

About 40 minutes before Northern Dancer's victory, the 1963 Kentucky Derby winner, Chateaugay, disappointed at Aqueduct in his first start as a 4-year-old.

Chateaugay finished eighth in a field of 11 in the seven-furlong $57,700 Carter Handicap won by Ahoy, under top weight of 133 pounds.

Golfer Marlene Bauer Hagge was three years old when she swung her first golf club.

Players Receive Wrist Watches

200 Attend Testimonial Banquet Honoring Midland High Cage Team

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Midland took its hat off to its high school basketball team Sunday night when over 200 attended a community banquet honoring the 1963-64 squad at the USW Hall.

The testimonial dinner, sponsored by the Leopard Boosters Club in cooperation with other Midland organizations, paid tribute to a team and coaching staff that compiled a 24-1 record and only was beaten last season by state champion Uniontown.

Twelve players and two managers were presented wrist watches by John B. Mueller, chairman of the dinner.

Two special awards of war bonds were presented to Bruce Humbert and Jim Harty for the athlete achieving the highest scholastic mark. Harty received the award for last year while Humbert was a member of the Leopard basketball squad this season. The awards were presented by Mayor Eli Corak.

There was no guest speaker, but coaches of teams which Midland played this season, were present to pay tribute to Hank Kuzma and his team.

Each opposing coach spoke briefly headed by veterans Neenie Campbell of McKeesport and Nate Lippe of Hopewell. Others introduced included Bill Edwards of New Brighton, Ben Martin of Shaler High, George Hrmoick of Western Beaver, George Milby of Martins Ferry and Connie Palumbo of New Castle.

Kuzma spoke briefly and thanked everyone who had helped make this season a success. He was presented a cash gift from the Leopard Boosters Club.

John Wilson gave the introduction and asked a moment of silent prayer for the late Dr. Ralph Jewell, Supt. of Schools who died in March.

Leads Ohio Women With 716 At Lima

Glenda Simms Gains No. 1 Spot In State Tournament

Glenda Simms of East Liverpool had never bowled a 600 series before but she surely picked the right time for her first two.

Over the weekend at the Women's State Championship at Lima, Glenda fired a torrid 635 scratch series in the singles event and this with her 81 pin handicap gave her a 716 total which put her first in the tournament.

Glenda ousted Arlene Hasselbeck of Cincinnati from the top spot by six pins Sunday.

GLENDA SIMMS proudly shows off her score of 716 which put her in first place in the Ohio Women's Bowling Association Tournament at Lima. Glenda turned in 635 scratch series and with an 81 pin handicap totaled 716 Sunday.

The Ohio Women's Bowling Association tournament has been running since January and has two weeks to go. Glenda is hoping that no one will top her total in the next two weeks. She would receive first prize of $150 if no one betters the 716.

She was hitting a fast clip during the weekend. In the team event on Saturday, Glenda rolled the first 600 series of her career when she posted a 610 then came right back in the singles for the 635 to take over first place in the state.

The 635 also is the highest ever rolled by a local woman.

The 25-year-old bowler was rolling for the Tri-State Lanes team which compiled a 2,992 total. Glenda has been bowling for four years. She is employed at the L & B Donut Shop.

Death, Injuries Mark State's Racing Scene

By The Associated Press

The weather was perfect but fate was unkind Sunday as a series of spectacular pileups at three Ohio auto racing tracks left one person dead and seven others injured.

George Hundt, 25 - year - old assistant starter at the Shady Bowl Speedway, was struck and killed at the track at Degraff in Logan County when he attempted to flag cars away from a crash. Witnesses said he was thrown 25 feet into the air.

Hundt was pronounced dead on arrival at Lima Memorial Hospital in Lima of a skull fracture, broken neck, and other injuries.

Three accidents marred the 30-lap feature at the U.S. Auto Club's sprint competition at the New Bremen speedway. Jmimy Maguire of Dunnellen, N.J., and Brighton, Mass. lost his right arm in a crash on the second lap of the race on the half mile track.

He was reported in satisfactory condition early today in Joint Township Hospital at St. Marys.

Maguire's car crashed into a racer driven by Chuck Engel of Columbus, Ohio. Engel was not hurt in the crash in which Maguire, 23, caught his arm between his car and the track wall.

The some 4,000 New Bremen spectators already had watched two big spills at the time of Maguire's accident.

In the warmup for the feature, Bob Black of Columbus, Ind., crashed into the rear of another car and his car flipped over the track wall. He suffered head and shoulder injuries. Attendants at the St. Mary's Hospital said he was in fair condition.

Several racers crashed trying to avoid Black's veering car, including one driven by Bud Tingelstad of Dayton, Ohio. Tingelstad suffered cuts and bruises but was not hospitalized.

Chuck Hulse, 36, of Downey, Calif., was injured in the abortive first start of the 30 - lap feature. He lost control on the first lap and his car overturned about 10 times in what track officials said was one of the most spectacular accidents ever seen here.

Hulse had bruises on the shoulder and upper back. He was admitted to the hospital at St. Marys. Hs condition was good.

A car went out of control at the Cloverleaf Speedway in Cleveland's Valley View suburb, brushing five men.

Richard Tabor, 24, of Brook Park, was repairing a carburetor when the car jumped into gear and shot forward. Tabor was knocked down by the car which went 35 feet forward to where the other four men were standing.

Lego T. Margo, 25, Cleveland, suffered a broken arm. The others escaped with minor injuries. Margo was reported in satisfactory condition at Marymount Hospital.

Knicks First This Time, In Draft That Is

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — This is one of those, oh, so rare days when the New York Knicks are first.

First, that is, at getting their pick of the cream of the crop of the nation's college senior basketball players in the National Basketball Association's annual draft meeting.

Under the NBA rules the draft is conducted in the reverse order of the finals standings, which means the first shall be last. And by the last being first, the Knicks get first choice.

Following in order will be Detroit, Baltimore, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Cincinnati with the champion Boston Celtics last.

The Knicks, desperately needing a big man, are expected to go for either Jim (Bad News) Barnes, Texas Western; Lucious Jackson, Pan American College; or Willis Reed, Grambling, as their first choice. All are in the 6-8 to 6-10 range, with Reed the tallest.

Pony League To Meet

Managers, coaches and officers of the Pony League will meet Tuesday night at 8 at the Travelers Hotel.

Ashworth Flashes 9.4 In Dash At Quantico

By MARSHALL JOHNSON

The former Dartmouth star was 22 last Friday. The next day he ran the 100-yard dash in 9.4 seconds, tying the meet record over a track that was just beginning to dry out after four days of rainy weather. And, he said, "I got off to a bad start—a very bad start."

For Ashworth, a native of Haverhill, Mass., who now lives in California, it was the latest step in a go-west program in an effort to get to Tokyo for the 1964 Olympic Games.

Ashworth won the ICA4A 100 yard dash last year, later came down with a muscle pull and missed nearly all the 1963 outdoor season.

The move to California has paid off, he says—"I'm in much better shape than I've ever been."

Joe Lynch of Georgetown was named the top performer in the Quantico Relays after he ran 4:09.6 to win the invitational mile on the heels of a 4:09.8 anchor leg Friday that won the distance medley relay.

But it was a Villanova day as the Wildcats atoned for a miserable Friday performance in which they unexpectedly lost three relays.

Noel Carroll anchored the Wildcats to a 7:36.4 victory in the two-mile relay, and Stan Kozlowski held off Norm Tate of North Carolina College in the 880-yard relay in 1:25.7.

The Wildcats' Rolando Cruz set a meet record of 15-11½ in the pole vault, and Vic Zwolak appeared to have erased a mark with an 8:52.8 in the 3,000-meter steeplechase — until the course was found to be 191 feet short.

Ira Davis, the Philadelphia Pioneer club's two-time Olympic veteran, did 51-10¾ in the triple jump, breaking the meet record and Russ Rogers of the Grand Street Boys tied the 120 high hurdles standard of 13.8.

In other major track and field developments Saturday, big Bob Hayes once again equalled his pending world record time in the 100, Randy Matson of Texas A&M broke his own national freshman shot put mark and two more 16-foot pole vaults were recorded.

Hayes, the 190-pound flash from Florida A&M, whipped over the asphalt track at Tennessee State in 9.1, matching the pending world record time for the 100 he has run four times before.

Matson, the Texas Aggies' young giant, broke his own national freshman record with a shot put of 64 feet, 10½ inches—9½ inches better than the freshman record he established just the week before. The toss, in a triangular meet in Houston, is exactly one foot under Dallas Long's listed world record.

Bob Neutzling of Ohio State became the first Big Ten competitor to clear 16 feet in the pole vault, going one-quarter inch over that height in a meet with Michigan State at East Lansing.

And in Norfolk, Va., John Pennel of Miami went 16 feet ½ inch, the 33rd time he has gone over 16 feet.

Southern Star Wins Yankee 300 At Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The North and South are even in the Yankee 300 series.

Fred Lorenzen, star of the Southern NASCAR circuit took the second annual stock car feature over Indianapolis Raceway Park's Road course Sunday at a record 79.127 miles an hour.

A. J. Foyt, defending champion of the Northern U.S. Auto Club, was winner of the Yankee 300 inaugural last year and in contention Sunday until his radiator burst.

Actually, Lorenzen lives in Elmhurst, Ill., and Foyt in Houston, Texas.

Parnelli Jones, the fastest qualifier, led for 97 laps around the twisting 2½-mile course but was whipped by transmission and clutch trouble and took second money. The Torrance, Calif., driver, Indianapolis 500 winner last year, operates for USAC.

Lorenzen, who set a record for stock car drivers by winning $110,000 last year, called Sunday's race the hardest he ever won — and he had taken five straight big ones.

Lorenzen drove a '64 Ford and Jones a '64 Mercury. All of the first five had Fords or Mercurys.

Third in a Mercury was Darel Dieringer, Charlotte, N.C.

By HAL HUMPHREY

Are Game Shows Art, Science Or What?

Operators of TV's quiz and game shows are so mad at the Academy of TV Arts and Sciences they may picket its big Emmy awards show this month.

Hal Humphrey

The trouble erupted when the academy's awards committee unceremoniously dropped the "outstanding achievement in the field of panel, quiz or audience participation" this year. Mark Goodson of Goodson - Todman Productions ("What's My Line?" "Password," etc.) stomped his foot and resigned from the academy, maintaining that game shows are as much "arts and sciences" as Huntley - Brinkley or Ed Sullivan.

A SOMEWHAT saner position has been taken by Monty Hall, emcee of NBC's daytime "Let's Make a Deal" and coproducer of "Your First Impression."

"I prefer to stay a member of the academy and be a thorn on the inside," he says, ominously.

Hall's first thorny charge is that the academy is hypocritically trying to buy prestige by dumping a category it may think demeans Emmy's image.

"Okay, if it's prestige the academy wants, then why not toss out categories like 'supporting actor'? I mean they give it to Don Knotts every year anyway. Isn't that a little ridiculous? And what Don doesn't get, E. G. Marshall does," says Hall.

IN HALL'S opinion the academy has to make up its collective mind whether it is running a popularity contest or voting to reward achievement.

"I'm not saying my category should be in there," he adds, warming up to his thorniest. "Let the academy throw out all awards categories and just give special accomplishment citations to those who really deserve it.

"I would give one this year to Dick Boone for attempting something new — a TV repertory group. George Scott deserves recognition for his acting in 'East Side - West Side.' And I'd give Danny Kaye an award for being a real professional.

"Danny got in there and worked. That was the difference between his show and the one Judy Garland tried to do," concludes Hall.

OTHER THAN THOSE, and maybe a citation for some technical achievement, which Hall confesses he never would know about anyway, he says that should wrap up the academy's awards.

"But I'm like a father in a neighborhood that's giving a picnic, and if everybody else's kid is going to that picnic, I want my kid there, too.

"In fact, I don't know why the academy hasn't put in categories for best supporting actor and actress in a series just canceled," adds Hall, sarcastically.

All award donors in the TV field face the attrition of repeating winners, giving Hall his most valid argument for the TV academy's replacing categories with just a few special honors.

IN 1960 the Sylvania TV awards were terminated after eight years. Company president R. E. Lewis said then, "The number of TV awards has grown, and the major award donors have tended to honor the same programs, actors and creators. Since there appears to be little additional incentive to the industry in the duplication of awards each year, Sylvania has decided to discontinue its awards."

"I notice," says Hall, in a parting shot, "that academy members don't mind making money from quiz and game shows. I'm always getting calls from them, asking to be on one of my shows or telling me they've got a great idea for a game show.

"Look at Carl Reiner. He's a producer, but not too busy to be the emcee now on that new 'Celebrity Game' quiz show."

Farm Agent's Report

Prices For Canned Fruit Sent Upward By Demand

The law of supply and demand has caused higher prices on many varieties of canned fruit, according to Ed Watkins, market information agent with the Agriculture Extension Service in Canfield.

It's the time of the year when many housewives rely on the processed product because such fruit is not plentiful, Watkins explained. Aside from specialty crops such as strawberries and rhubarb, large quantities of fresh fruit simply are not available, he said.

Banana prices have reflected the situation, jumping about 33 per cent in the last two weeks, compared with last spring, Watkins said.

Because of this reliance on canned and frozen fruits, price pressure builds upward when there are not large supplies on hand.

Cling peaches seem to be in the best supply but even here supply and demand are well balanced, with little evidence of much carry-over into the new crop year.

Freestone peaches are at a fairly high price level and there is little prospect of many specials or of lower prices in the next year. One source of freestone canned peaches — the southeastern area, already has lost a good portion of its crop by freezing.

Red tart cherries, which have in recent years been troubled by excessive supplies, are in a "cleanout" situation. There will be little carry over into the new crop year. It's a little too early to predict the size of the 1964 tart cherry crop. Fruit cocktail is in short supply and in this situation prices tend upward.

In canned fruit juices, tomato continues to be favored, although prices have advanced, it is still the least expensive of the simple strength juice.

Some Florida processors have reduced wholesale prices on frozen orange concentrate, not because of large supplies now but rather in anticipation of increasing demand for next winter's production.

Cucumber prices reflect large supplies. Prices again are sharply lower this week. Tomato prices too are down. Sources are Florida and Mexico.

Vegetables with largely unchanged price tags include celery, beans, greens, onions, radishes and carrots. Sweet potatoes are again a bit higher. The quality on this crop needs to be watched closely this time of year.

A large price spread exists between new potatoes and those coming from storage. Prices on old crop potatoes are up from last fall's level about 40 per cent. This is a larger gain than usual.

Grass Blaze Quelled

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Overly-Dependent Child Can Be Helped

"She still wants a baby bottle at night. I'm too ashamed to tell her doctor," writes a mother from Missouri about her four - year-old daughter. "She has never seen her father. We live with my parents and two older brothers. For the last four years I have not been allowed by my parents to do anything but watch her. My parents are comfortably fixed.

Dr. Garry Myers

"She was a tiny baby, 4½ pounds, and I guess I became over-protective. When she was three months old, my doctor told me she might be retarded. I live in dread of that. I know I could face it if it was so but just waiting is terrible. She didn't sit up till she was 10 months old. She walked at 18 months; she talked at 12 months and never did talk baby talk.

"THERE ARE three adults in the house 24 hours a day, and she has had someone with her every moment. She has never been separated from me except for a week last year when I was in the hospital. She doesn't want to go to kindergarten next year because she doesn't want to be away from me.

"She is an outgoing child as long as I am with her. She has long blonde curly hair reaching beyond her waist. She is very bossy and has no discipline."

My reply in part:

Obviously, you and your baby are prisoners of your parents and the other adults. Consider first prevailing on your parents to let you take a home alone with your baby. Failing in that, do all you can to make this child less dependent on you and the other adults. Resolve to have her hair cut to normal length and have that bottle disappear.

TRY TO BE out of her presence — first for 15 minutes; later for half an hour or more —every day or so. Don't do for her what she can do for herself. Tell her quietly long before bedtime that, as she's so big, you will not get the bottle for her. Then quietly go about your plan and see that the other adults don't interfere. She will make a great fuss and may cry for one or even several hours. Pay no attention to this.

Since there are so many adults in the house, they might help her most by reading a great deal to her and making things with her and showing her how to make things and have fun with other children of her age.

Attract to your home other children, one at first, more later, when you can study your child and help her become a better playmate. Go with her to homes of other children.

If she could have a few months in a nursery school or informal play school that would help, too. You might also take her to the nursery department of a Sunday school.

SINCE SHE began talking at 12 months, she hardly could be retarded much, if at all.

Now don't scold yourself for having made this child so dependent. Under the circumstances, you did as most other mothers would have done. Without rebuking yourself, just try to work out a plan of improvement and try to muster courage to follow it.

My bulletins, "Love and Restraint," "Self-Reliance," "Suggestions to Grandparents" and "Tot Learning to Be Sociable," may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Youth Survives Fall, Roll Down Niagara Gorge

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP) —A teen-aged boy was pulled from the Niagara River gorge in a dramatic rescue after he lost his footing and fell and rolled halfway down a sheer rock wall of the 200-foot-deep chasm.

George Lawrence, 15, of Niagara Falls, Ont., was walking near the top of the gorge Sunday when "he just disappeared" said a companion, Ken Goodman, 15, also of Niagara Falls.

Firemen extended a fire truck ladder over the edge of the gorge and used the last rung as a support for a rope to lower five rescuers, one at a time, into the chasm.

A basket was lowered on the rope. Lawrence was strapped into the basket and hauled out by firemen at the top. The five rescuers were pulled out the same way, one at a time.

Lawrence underwent emergency abdominal surgery. His condition was listed as satisfactory.

Space Technicians May Get Bath Ban

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)— Technicians who work on the first U.S. spacecraft intended to land on Mars may be banned from taking baths.

L. B. Hall, special quarantine officer with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, says studies show that dissemination of organisms from the human body is five times as great just after a person takes a bath or shower than it is a few hours later.

"One theory," Hall says, "is that soap may break down the body oils which help prevent dissemination of these organisms."

Bathless workers are among measures NASA is considering to avoid transporting earth microbes to Mars. First landing of an unmanned American capsule may occur in 1966.

57 Compete In Test

LISBON — Fifty - seven Columbiana County students took the College Entrance Examination Board test Saturday morning at David Anderson High School, according to Cornell P. Monda, school psychologist, and 21 took the achievement and writing sample tests in the afternoon. It was the fourth and last in a series of tests given for this school term.

About 48 per cent of the people now living are too young to recall World War II.

"What's the matter with you lately? The least little thing I do seems to upset you."

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I make easier the insertion of a screw in a "hard-to-get-at" place?

A. Set your screwdriver into the slot of the screw and then tape them together with cellophane tape.

Q. How can I remove acid stains from fabrics?

A. Dampen the spots, then cover with salts of wormwood, let this remain for a few minutes, then rub the stains with a dry cloth.

Q. How can I camouflage or cover up tack and nail holes in light-colored wallpaper?

A. With a little dry corn starch. Just press a bit of this into the hole, then rub over it lightly with your fingertips to smooth it out.

Q. Is there any way I can make my bathroom mirrors "steam-proof"?

A. You can usually avoid the annoyance of steamed-up bathroom mirrors if you coat them lightly with a little soap-type shaving cream. Rub the excess cream off with a dry cloth or tissues.

Q. How can I clean spots off enameled woodwork?

A. With a cloth dampened with alcohol, following this quickly with a wash in clear water. Equal parts of milk and water, with a little kerosene added, is fine for cleaning white painted woodwork.

Q. How can I remove fish slime stains from materials?

A. By soaking in a solution made by adding a half - cup of salt and one cup of vinegar to two quarts of water. Rinse with plain water, and wash with warm water and soap.

Junior Editors Quiz on TOOLS

QUESTION: How does a lathe work and what is it used for?

ANSWER: Carpenters use tools such as hammers and screw drivers which are operated by hand. But many of the jobs they must do nowadays would be impossible without machine operated tools, in which power makes the tool work. One of the most important of these is the lathe. Its function is to turn things into various round shapes. It does this by skinning off the surface areas, as one peels off the skin from an apple.

The main picture shows Billy turning out a rung to repair one of his mother's chairs. He has put a piece of wood in the holders on the lathe and turned on the power; the wood is spinning around. Now he is resting a sharp "gouge" on a wood rest which is part of the machine and by cutting lightly in some places and deeply in others can get the required shape, shown at lower right.

The same principle is used for lathes which turn things out of metal, from big objects like crankshafts and railway car wheels to the tiny wheels and pins used in watches.

FOR YOU TO DO: The lathe Billy is using is only part of a power tool Billy's Dad has set up in the basement. Perhaps your school, or one of your friend's families, has such a multiple tool, which can saw, drill and sand as well as turn. Find out how these different operations work.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Pull Yourself Out Of The Self-Pity Rut

Why is self-pity so ruinous? Basically it is because self-pity colors everything and keeps you from being happy. Feeling deprived, you can only see the gloomy side. When you spend your energy feeling put-upon, you haven't any left for advancing confidently toward a goal.

Ida Jean Kain

A dieter, who has 50 excess pounds to lose, asks for some "magic" to use when overwhelmed with discouragement. This is the right attitude. When you are looking for a way, you'll find it. . .what you expect, you experience.

SO, WHAT to do on blue days? When you reach the giving-up point, cling to this thought hard: "I'm going to fight this through sometime and it might as well be now!" Say this out loud to yourself, looking right into a mirror if there is one handy. But say it! This sentence can be wonderfully spine-stiffening. It can be unexpectedly energizing, too. It's morale building to find you have spunk. . .

What to do when tempted by a favorite fattener that you know from past experience gets you clear off the slimming track? For example, when you are out with friends and they order something festive. It won't help any to take the attitude that you are being left out of the fun. If you have given the decision prior thought, you can take the view that the pleasure will be fleeting, and that it really will be no favor to yourself to eat it. With this attitude you are set free! Bolster your determination by this thought: "If I fall for that, it will just make things tougher for me. . .I don't really want it!" Suddenly you won't want it. You will be developing a built - in slimming system.

IT IS WELL to recognize that in any particular set of circumstances the tendency is to repeat a pattern. That's the way habit works. You have decided to develop a new slimming pattern, so don't do a Rip Van Winkle... saying, "Just this once won't count." To get the picture of what happens, get a ball of yarn. Drop it. . .let it roll clear across the room. You will have to re-wind to the spot where it was dropped. Well, that's the way it is with habit. When you break the new rhythm, you go back almost to where you started.

So, instead, say in a spirited way to yourself. . ."I haven't broken my slimming pattern yet. . .and I'm not going to now!"

Turn your attention to all the delicious foods you can eat, and slim down beautifully! This is the winning way!
